Mail Liner Strands On Reef Near Scene Of Destroyers' Disaster

Blame For Naval Wreck To Be Fixed By Probers

SANTA BARBARA, CALIF., Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—The Pacific mail liner, Cuba, is stranded on a reef, near Point Bennett, on the western edge of San Miguel Island. The wreck was located yesterday by Captain L. Curtis, a representative of a New York salvage firm.

Captain Holland and four members of the crew are on the island and are in an abandoned fishermen's house while awaiting a guard over the wreck. All of the $2,500,000 in silver bullion the vessel carried, has been taken from the wreck and is en route to San Francisco on a United States destroyer. The $500,000 cargo of coffee is lost.

The ship is entirely out of water on the reef and no hope of salvaging her is entertained.

Clubs Organized In Two Big Cities To Push Candidacy Of Coolidge For Re-election

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Coolidge-for-President clubs have been formed in Chicago and St. Louis with the avowed purpose of obtaining support for the President at the next Republican National Convention, although President Coolidge in a letter to the Chicago club said he preferred that the club support his administration and contribute to its success.

Formation of the St. Louis club was announced yesterday. The Chicago club was incorporated last week.

In his letter to the Chicago club, President Coolidge said he was grateful for the club's offer of service and would welcome its existence if used for the purpose of supporting his administration and contributing to its success.

"I have given no thought to the matter to which you refer," the President's letter said. "I am merely doing what I can to take up the duties of my office. I very much prefer to discourage thought and activity in any other direction."

The task before me is to carry to a successful conclusion, the policies inaugurated by President Harding, and I am sure you will understand that if I ask your help to this end, rather than in the way you have suggested, it shows no lack of appreciation of your kindness."

Cecil's Plan To Discuss Greek Tangle Abandoned

GENEVA, Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Believing that any comment on his part would be untimely and liable to complicate the situation, Lord Robert Cecil has abandoned the plan he announced yesterday of making a detailed statement today on the Greco-Italian conflict, especially from the standpoint of the League of Nations.

Lord Robert had indicated he would summarize the situation to the representatives of the press here.

The Council of the League has adopted the attitude that the assembly should take no step calculated to prevent a smooth settlement of the dispute, which the council seems to be on the road to solution. Hence any action by the assembly on questions such as the competency of the League will probably be postponed.

Today's meeting of the assembly was devoted to consideration of the Austrian reconstruction, hailed by various delegates as a superb achievement, affording inspiration and encouragement that the League could prove of the greatest service to the world in helping toward the solution of other grave problems. The assembly adjourned until tomorrow after hearing an address from Sir Henry Strakosch, of South Africa, the celebrated economist, emphasizing the importance of the League's reconstruction project as a basis of further usefulness of the League.

Representative Stephen G. Porter, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the foreign-affairs committee of the House of Representatives, and other members of the American Mission, have arrived for discussion of the optimum control question. The advent of Americans who will act in an official capacity here, has attracted considerable attention.

Bodies Of Thousands Trapped By Flames In Tokio Slums, Are Found

TOKIO, Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Investigation by the authorities of the Hondo district, that part of Tokyo which is hemmed in by the sea, the Sumida River, and by the city, showed that the previous estimate of loss of life there was not exaggerated.

The residents of this, the poorest quarter of the capital, were trapped by the flames which followed the earthquake. The ruins throughout the district were crowded with dead, the majority of whom it is believed were women. In many instances it was discovered that the clothing of the victims was not even burned.

In various parts of Tokyo thousands of bodies are being stacked for cremation.

Typhoid and other epidemics have appeared in the Okuno and Hiroo districts, and in the "condemned" quarters of the Asakusa district, where 600 sick and wounded have been collected. Many of the earthquake victims who were disinfecting, were removed to a temporary hospital established at the Ueno Exposition site.

Six big emergency crematoriums have been established, and the burning of bodies is proceeding night and day. It is said that approximately 100,000 refugees are leaving the capital each day.

Confirming Reports
LONDON, Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Refugees from Japan, brought to Shanghai by the Steamer Empress of Canada, confirm reports that foreign victims of the disaster were robbed and murdered, says a Shanghai dispatch to the Morning Post.

All the survivors, many of whom were taken to hospitals, told poignant stories of their experiences. Many are penniless and without clothes, while several dementia patients are being cared for.

Some of the foreign business concerns, says the correspondent, have decided against re-opening their Yokohama establishments, fearing that the situation in that city will always be uncertain.

Five thousand tons of foodstuffs and medical supplies have been shipped from Shanghai to Kobe to go to the Japanese people.

Two relief parties of doctors and nurses have gone to Tokyo and Yokohama. It is reported that Kobe is overcrowded and that there is danger of an epidemic there.

TOKIO, Sept. 10.—(By The Associated Press)—Up to today 23,000 bodies have been recovered in Yokohama. Of the 180,000 homeless in that city, at least half are said to be starving.

Italy To Proclaim Annexation Of Fiume

PARIS, Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—It is understood from information gathered in reliable sources that Premier Mussolini will proclaim the annexation of Fiume to Italy within a week, probably about September 15. The government of Fiume, which is represented as being aware of Mussolini's intention and as intending to make no serious protest, provided Porto Barro and Sussak, adjacent are not directly affected.

ROME, Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Best informed opinion here is that Italy will refuse any mediation of the settlement of the Fiume question with Jugo-Slavia, as proposed by the latter. Italy, it is declared, intends to settle directly with Jugo-Slavia, in line with the emergency plan for a settlement set forth September 15, the date for a reply, even employing forceful means if necessary, to end what she regards as an intolerable situation imperiling peace.

An Italo-Jugo Slav joint commission approved a plan for settlement which it was understood, would be submitted to the League government only as a matter of form.

Now, however, it appears that the Jugo-Slavian premier, M. Pachtich, desires to submit the entire question to the mediation of the President of Switzerland as contemplated by the treaty of Rapallo.

Italy is opposed to it, it is understood.

Still They Walk In Niles Until Gap In Track Is Bridged

NILES, O., Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Passengers on the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric Company's trolley lines still were transferring half a mile today past the break in the lines where the city trolley runs in an effort to force the company to pay part of the cost of repairing streets.

Through a temporary injunction against the city's interfering with operation, was granted the company in Warren yesterday, officials of the company said today that it could not act toward repairing the tracks until a hearing on making the injunction permanent is held next Monday.

The company, which maintains a bus service from Warren to Youngstown as well as a trolley service, today put on extra buses, offering a 2-cent ride through service. Passengers who use the trolleys, however, still are forced to walk the half-mile through Niles.

Fisher Speaks To W. C. T. U. Despite Vigorous Protest

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Election of Ireland to a place in the League of Nations was cited as proof that the League is not under British control by Professor Fisher, who addressed the National Convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union last night, after a protest against his being permitted to speak had been filed with Miss Anna Gordon, National President.

Mrs. John Gordon Battelle, of Columbus, member of the Republican National Committee, in a letter to Miss Gordon, protested Professor Fisher's appearance at this or any other meeting in the home state of the late President Harding. Charles W. Montgomery, chairman of the Republican State Committee, also entered a protest.

While there was no specific mention of the cause of the protest, it was attributed to a recent statement of Professor Fisher in which he said that President Harding favored the League of Nations and was only opposing it because of the necessity for keeping harmony within the ranks of his own party.

Escaped Convict Confesses To 3-Year-old Old Murder Charge

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—John E. Hale, who escaped from the Ohio penitentiary on March 10, today faced a charge of murder following a confession which detectives said he made to them last night that he had shot and killed Henry B. Rhodes, wealthy dry goods merchant, in his automobile near Evanston, three years ago. His accomplice, he said, was Harry H. Ward, hanged two years ago for two other murders.

Hale said he and Ward attempted to hold up Rhodes, who fired at them and in the exchange of shots which followed, he was shot through the heart. A woman in the company of Rhodes was questioned by the police, but subsequently was released.

Detectives said Hale told them he would just as soon be hanged as returned to the penitentiary.

Science Harnesses Elements, Photographs Eclipse

SANTA BARBARA, CALIF., Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—The only successful photos of the sun's corona made in Southern California during the eclipse of the sun yesterday are believed to be those by Professor James Worthington, of London, and Dr. Alfred E. Burton, Professor Emeritus of Astronomy, in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Professor Worthington stated last night that four of the negatives developed by him were almost perfect, and would take rank with the best ever made during a solar eclipse.

Professor Worthington and Dr. Burton headed an expedition to an observation station established north of Santa Barbara. Weather conditions there were more favorable than at any other spot on the Pacific coast, according to the scientists.

Lieutenant John A. Macready, one of the two army flyers who broke the world's record in a non-stop flight from New York to San Diego, figured in another novel undertaking yesterday in a flight to "60,000 feet altitude to observe the eclipse. With Captain A. W. Stevens, noted army photographer, Macready battled the clouds for three hours in his determination to gain an unobstructed view of the eclipse. They were winging along in utter darkness, with tongues of blue flames shooting from their exhaust pipes and with wings and fuselage drenched with moisture, when the drama of the skies was enacted. Lieutenant Macready and Captain Stevens recently came to San Diego by airplane from an eastern aviation field for the express purpose of making pictures of the eclipse. They flew 3,000 miles to get one picture, but were felled by the elements.

Lieutenant Wyatt and Chief Photographer P. A. McDonough flew at 17,000 feet just inside the area of totality.

At the instant of totality, Lieutenant Wyatt saw with remarkable clearness the shadow approaching from the southwest, but it came so rapidly he was unable to snap his stop watch before it had passed. He reported that the horizon of the Pacific was marked by a reddish pink glow that extended about one-third the length of the horizon to the right of the shadow. As the shadow passed, the reddish tinge of flame leaped along the entire horizon and did not dim for several minutes.

Naval aviators, scattered over a wide area and flying at altitudes varying from 7,000 to 10,000 feet, were successful in getting not only excellent motion pictures of the corona, but also faint but sufficient photographs of the fleeting shadow that swept with terrific speed down from the northward at the moment of totality.

Scientists are extremely puzzled over one by the information that dropped from the clouded skies with the naval aviators. This was a sea of lavender colored clouds.

Lieutenant Donald Duncan, flying at 8,000 feet over the mountains near Poway, sighted the shadow with unusual clearness approaching from the northwest. It engulfed him in black darkness as it passed. He said the horizon during the period of totality, was rimmed with a reddish light that flared forth at times with great brilliance and then died down until it seemed like the glow from a small fire.

Bay State Senatorial Race In '24 Promises To Be Notable Battle

(Copyright, 1923, By David Lawrence)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Robert Lincoln O'Brien, editor of the Boston Herald, had luncheon with President Coolidge today—the first of the editorial fraternity to sit at the White House table under the new administration. Mr. O'Brien, who watches Massachusetts politics with an eagle eye from year to year, brought tidings of the situation there.

"There's a rather interesting senatorial situation" in Massachusetts, said Mr. O'Brien to the writer today. "If things had been normal, Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat, would have been a very hard man to beat next year, and consequently the Republican nomination would not have been as earnestly sought after. As the nomination of Mr. Coolidge for President seems to be fore-ordained, there is a feeling that with a Massachusetts man running for the presidency, the local ticket will be helped immensely. Everybody in Massachusetts seems to be pleased that a man from New England, as in the White House, and I believe Mr. Coolidge will carry the state by an overwhelming majority—in fact a sweep as big as that which McKinley had over Bryan."

"Naturally the people of Massachusetts would like to see the Republican nomination go to John W. Weeks, Secretary of War, if he wants it. There's a feeling that when Senator Walsh, next Mr. Weeks for re-election in 1918, the latter suffered an

Berlin Conferences May Lead To Cessation Of Resistance, Paris Holds

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Political circles here that progress is being made in unofficial efforts to strengthen the "atmosphere of contact" which the government is endeavoring to establish with France. These informal conversations, it is believed, forecast official action by the German government.

An outline of the extensive guarantees which Germany is prepared to pledge for the payment of her reparations obligations is generally looked for in the address which Chancellor Stresemann is scheduled to deliver in Berlin tomorrow. This plan, it is known, is based upon the hypothesis of the entire economic structure of the Reich, according to the scheme involved during the Chancellorship of Dr. Cuno. If acceptable to the allied creditors, the program will be supported by full legislative authority.

Official circles are somewhat disappointed that Premier Poincare has not seen fit to consider Dr. Cuno's offer, which has been amplified by the new chancellor.

Klan Cowl Dropped In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—The "Invisible Empire" has laid aside its invisibility in Oklahoma, submitting to the edict of Governor J. C. Walton against masked parades and meetings.

All members of the Ku Klux Klan in the state have orders from the Grand Dragon of the Oklahoma realm (that robes and hoods must no longer be worn in public. The unmasking of the Klan left Governor Walton in command of the field in his war on the secret organization, to which his attributes "floggings" and other such outrages, but it was not without violent protest that State Klan officials decided to bow to his ultimatum.

Grand Dragon N. C. Jewett made it plain that only the governor's threat of martial law for communities in which masked demonstrations were held led to the decision to discard robes and hoods in public.

A Klan meeting near Bristow last night was the first to unmask under the governor's orders. "Our robes have been left behind because we do not want to give the governor an excuse for martial law in Creek County," said Rev. Beech, pastor of the Baptist Church at Bristow, addressing the gathering.

David B. Newton, of Atlanta, a National lecturer for the Klan who delivered the principal address, declared that Klansmen in Oklahoma would not wear "the cowl," but would assert themselves. With action at the next election.

Fire Forces Ship's Return To Pacific Port

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Fire in the hold of the 10,000 ton freighter American of the American-Hawaiian line, while lying at sea, was extinguished last night after the vessel had been conveyed to the harbor by the U. S. Ship Nevada, and a Los Angeles fireboat which went to her assistance in response to radio calls.

Ten hose lines poured water into the blazing hold for more than nine hours. So terrific was the heat and so dense the smoke from the burning cargo that the fire-fighters were forced to work in relays, and thirty of them were overcome.

Damage to the American's cargo was estimated at $250,000.

Deposed Chief's Attorneys Attack Miller Law Legality

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 11.—(By The Associated Press)—Deposition of the motion seeking a re-hearing of the case of James E. Watkins, deposed Youngstown Chief of Police, who was ousted by Governor Donnelly for his failure to enforce laws, will not be rendered until the governor has had twenty-four hours in which to consider certain points cited by Watkins' attorneys at the hearing last night. Former Attorney General Timothy S. Hogan and Judge William E. Barnum, of Youngstown, Watkins' attorneys, attacked the Miller law, which empowers the chief executive of the state to remove officials found guilty of failure to enforce prohibition laws, as a "back door method of repealing the Civil Service laws by implication."

The argument brought out a legal technicality as to whether the Miller law is to be construed as an exception to the Civil Service law. Judge E. E. Corn, of the State Attorney General's Department, advanced the contention that it should be so considered. In opposing the request for a new trial.

Just One Application And The Hairs Vanish

(Modes of Today.) A harmless, yet very effective, treatment is here given for the quick removal of hairy growths. Mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the undesirable hairs, apply paste and after leaving on about 3 minutes wash off and the hairs have vanished. There is also a liquid delatone requiring no mixing and is more handy to use. Leave the liquid on 3 minutes then wash off and behold the results. You will notice no odor from it and it does not burn.

Be sure you get the genuine of either article, put up in the original package and accept no substitutes.

GOOD RESULTS IN BILIOUSNESS

Black-Draught Recommended By A Texas Lady, Who Describes Her Daughter's Interesting Case

Paris, Tex.—"We have been using Black-Draught for seven years," says Mrs. M. B. Salter, of this town, who related the following description of how Black-Draught proved beneficial in the case of her daughter:

"Our oldest daughter would get very bilious, was naturally of a bilious temperament," said the doctor. The medicines we tried seemed too strong and would leave her in a weakened condition, and her stomach so weak.

"We began to look for a remedy that would correct this and not leave her so weak. Some one suggested Black-Draught. We tried it and the result was so good we never use anything else with her."

"We make a tea from Black-Draught and it certainly gives satisfaction. I, myself, use Black-Draught for headache and indigestion and colds, and recommend it to others. Am sure it has benefited us."

Biliousness has been relieved in many thousands of cases, by the use of Thedford's Black-Draught. It is easy to take, and has none of the disagreeable after-effects of calomel and other mineral drugs. Black-Draught is purely vegetable. Try it. Sold everywhere. Be a package, advertisement.

Local Man Faces Manslaughter Charge After Piqua Woman Dies Of Injuries

PIQUA, O., Sept. 11.—Miss Ruth Kroemer, Muncie, Indiana, who was injured in a motorcycle wreck north of here on the Dixie Highway Sunday died at the Memorial Hospital here yesterday afternoon. Miss Kroemer's left leg was amputated after the accident, and her right eye had to be removed. It is thought the shock of these operations caused her death.

Police are holding Charles Hood, Portsmouth, and Oscar Harris, Piqua, whom they will charge with manslaughter, they say, evidence having been secured that both were speeding when Hood's motorcycle struck that ridden by Harris and Miss Kroemer.

Our idea of a poor sport is the fellow with an eagle eye for faults and a blind eye for virtues. In our business we find so many good points to comment on among those who help us carry on the affairs of the store that the occasional small oversights do not worry us much.

New Plans Of Education A Success

"Part Time Education is already successfully established and on a going basis, here," reports C. H. Brechner who has charge of this department in the local schools.

Five classes are meeting regularly, one each afternoon of the five school days of the week.

This work is supported by the Federal Government, the State of Ohio, and the local Board of Education, and is for the advantage of those boys who have dropped out of school for one reason or another, but who still feel a need for further education.

Boys attending Part Time classes do so one afternoon each week, and report on their regular jobs the rest of the time.

Executives of our local factories are in most part in hearty accord with the plan and are supporting it by arranging their work so employees may attend classes.

As expressed by N. H. C. Ricker of the Excelsior Shoe Company, speaking of the Part Time program: "It is a wonderful opportunity for boys who have dropped out of school to continue their studies and thereby fit themselves for a successful future. Feeling this we are very glad to have our young men take advantage of the plan."

Supply Of Dentists Shows Shortage, Is Alleged By Official

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 11.—There are not enough dentists in the United States to supply the demand, Dr. J. B. Buckley of Los Angeles, president of the American Dental Association, told the house of delegates. The meeting of the house of delegates was preliminary to the formal session tomorrow of the fifth annual convention of the association.

Thousands of dentists from all over the world are here for the convention. Among them is Dr. Florestan Aguilar of Madrid, secretary of the International Dental Federation. Dr. Aguilar is here to plead for help for the dentists of Russia, whom, he said, instruments have been nationalized and not a new piece of scientific literature has been received since 1914.

Daughter's Body Found In Morgue; Mystery Is Cleared

CINCINNATI, O., September 11.—V. A. Maggard, of Combs Station, Ky., called at the Cincinnati General Hospital and claimed the body of a young woman whose identity had been in mystery for several days. The young woman died when giving birth to a son thirteen days ago.

Maggard, who is a prosperous merchant at Combs Station, identified the woman as his daughter, who he said had eloped to Lexington, Ky., with Chester A. Brewer, 21, son of Hyden Brewer, also a merchant of Combs Station, last January.

The husband of the young woman is mysteriously missing. After the death of his wife he departed from the Norwood barbershop which employed him and has not been seen since.

Republican Chiefs To Meet In Capital; Adams Tells Of Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—After a conference yesterday with Pres. Coolidge, Chairman Adams of the Republican National Committee said the committee probably would meet in Washington in December to elect a place for the 1924 National Republican Convention.

Scouts Plan Rally

Plans are being formulated by the executive of the Portsmouth Boy Scouts of America for a very enjoyable time for all Portsmouth Scouts. Some time during the month of September a "pep rally" will be held. The headquarters of the scouts is now located at 718 Second Street and the entire second floor will be used by this organization. One room is being used as the office of the executive and the remaining four rooms will be fitted up so that troops will be able to use them for meetings. All scout gatherings, rallies, banquets and other events will take place there. The "pep rally" which is to take place this month will be open to every registered Scout in the city and a good time is in store for all who attend. There will be plenty of things to eat and good entertaining features. Every Scout should get ready for this event and help to make it the biggest event of its kind ever held by the boys of our city. The attendance will be in the form of a contest and a banner will be given the troop which has the biggest percent of membership in attendance.

Superbly portrayed and massively produced, "Bella Donna," Pola Negri's first American made Paramount picture, "Bella Donna," was rapturously greeted by capacity audiences at the Lyric Theatre yesterday. "Bella Donna" is a tremendous story as all who read Robert Hichens' great novel, are aware, and in the portrayal of the title, Pola Negri proves herself perhaps the greatest dramatic and emotional actress on the screen.

In this picture, for the first time, Miss Negri is directed by an American producer, George Fitzmaurice; photographed for the first time by American photographic methods and supported by two stellar leading men—Conway Tearle and Conrad Nagel and Lois Wilson, a popular Paramount leading woman.

The love affair between the pair continues for a period, when Baroud suggests that Bella Donna free herself by poisoning her husband. Nigel Armine is slowly wasting away as the result of slow poisoning but is saved by the intervention of his friend, Dr. Isaacson (Claude King). Learning the truth, Nigel casts out his wife who, now free, joyfully makes her way to Baroud's camp. He, however, is with another woman, and brutally orders her away. Bella Donna goes out alone into the desert, a tragic figure.

Miss Negri has set the world astir by her foreign made pictures, but this, her first American made production, overshadows them all. It is, all in all, a superb photoplay, a production long to be remembered by the picture-going public, and those who miss seeing it will be deprived of rare entertainment.

THE ISLE OF RETRIBUTION

EDISON MARSHALL

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Ned Cornet goes on a voyage to Northern Canada and Alaska to exchange silk and velvet gowns with the Indian trappers for five furs. Ned is accompanied by his fiancée, Lenore Hardenworth, and the latter's mother.

Bess Gilbert, seamstress and the captain's assistant, McNab, are worried because Captain Knutsen is finding too freely of liquor. Together they steal into Ned's cabin and confiscate his remaining stock. When Ned finds his liquor gone he blames Bess for the theft and she confesses.

The craft runs into a heavy gale and is shipwrecked. Two life-boats are lowered and in one is Captain Knutsen, Ned, Lenore and Bess. After many hours the captain sights land. Bess bears up heavily, but Lenore seems almost unable to bear the hardships.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

With the waves and the wind behind them, Knutsen saw the gray line that was the island slowly half in shadow against the edge of the scrub timber. For all that it was less than a quarter of a mile distant, both men had to strain to make it out. The explanation lay partly in the depths of the surrounding shadows; partly in the fact that the form was absolutely without motion.

Knutsen drove his ears with added force into the water. The boat leaped forward. At a moment more they touched the bank.

Their deliverer, a great blonde man seemingly of Northeastern Europe, was already at the water's edge watching them with a strange and inexplicable glitter in gray, sardonic eyes. He was a mighty, bearded man, clothed in furs; already he was bent, his hands on the bow of the boat. Already Ned was climbing out upon the shore.

Partly to remove the silly dismay that had overwhelmed him partly because it was the first thought that would come to the mind of a wayfarer of the sea, Knutsen turned with a question. "What island is this?" he asked.

The stranger turned with a grim, meaning smile. "Hell," he answered simply.

Both Ned and Knutsen stood erect to stare at him. The wind made curious whistles down through the long slit of the river valley. "Hell?" Knutsen echoed. "Is that its name?"

"It's the name I gave it. You'll think it's that before you get away."

XIII

The stranger's voice was deep and full, so far-carrying, so masterful, that it might have been the articulation of the raw elements among which he lived, rather than the utterance of human vocal chords.

His accent was plainly not that of an American. He had not been born to the English tongue; very plainly he had learned it, thoroughly and laboriously.

He was dressed from head to foot in furs and skins of the most rare and beautiful kinds. His jacket and trousers seemed to be of lynx, his cap was unmistakably silver fox.

The blonde hair grew in a great mat about his lips and jaws. His nose was straight, his eyebrows heavy, all his features remarkably even and well-proportioned. But none of these lesser features could be noticed because of the compelling attraction of his gray, vivid eyes.

"Excuse me for not making myself known sooner," he began, in his deep, sardonic voice. "My name is Doomsdorf, trapper, and seemingly owner of this island. At least I'm the only living man on it, except yourselves. His speech, though careless and queerly accented, had no mark of ignorance or ill-reverence. "I told you the island's name—believe me, it fits it perfectly. Welcome to it."

Ned straightened, white-faced. "Mr. Doomsdorf, these girls are chilled through—one of them is near to collapse from exposure. Will you save that till later and help me get them to a fire?"

For all his creeping terror, that was passing his vision, Ned made a brave effort to hold his voice steady. The man looked down at him, his lip curling. "Parson's negligence," he replied easily. "Of course she isn't used to the cold yet—but that will come in time." He bowed slightly to the shivering girl on the shore. "If you follow my tracks up in the wood you'll find my shack—and there's a fire in the stove."

Ned bent, seized an armful of blankets from the boat, then stepped to Lenore's side. "The captain will help you," Miss Gilbert, he said to Bess. Then he and the golden-haired girl he loved started together through the six-inch snowfall toward the woods. Bess, stricken and appalled, but yet not knowing which way to turn, took the trail behind them. But Knutsen still waited on the shore, beside the boat.

Doomsdorf, incredible to Ned and Bess, was wholly plausible to him. He feared him to the depths of his heart, yet in some measure, at least, these three were in his charge, and if worst came to worst, he must stand between them and this island devil with his own life. He had stayed on the shore after the others had gone so that he might find out the truth.

He was not long in learning. Through some innate, vague, almost inexplicable sense to shelter his three charges and to spare them the truth, he wanted to wait until all three of them had disappeared in the wood; but even this was denied him. Lenore and Ned, it is true, had already vanished into the patch of forest; but Bess seemed to be walking slowly, waiting for him. Doomsdorf was bent now, unloading the stores and remaining blankets from the canoe; but suddenly, with one motion, he showed Knutsen where he stood.

With one great lurch of his shoulders he turned over the empty boat and shoved it off into the sea. The first wave, catching it, drove it out of reach. "You won't need that again," he said.

Presently the whole consciousness seemed to sharpen. In an instant of clear thought she guessed, broadly, the truth of that tragedy beside her; that Knutsen had died in a desperate attempt to break free from an unspeakable trap into which he and his charges had fallen.

It meant she must work quick. She must not lose a single chance. The odds were desperately long already; she must not increase them. In an instant more Doomsdorf would be glancing about to see if his crime were observed. If she could conceal the fact that she had witnessed it he would not be so much on guard. In the moment of crisis that was to come, her body and soul seemed to rally to mighty effort.

She was already at the edge of the timber. Stooping down, she made one leap into its shelter. She was gone too soon; already Doomsdorf had looked back to see if the coast were clear.

Everything depended on Ned. Henceforth, she couldn't work alone. With his aid, perhaps, they could destroy this evil power under which they had fallen before it could prey on them. Doomsdorf's cabin—a long, log structure on the bank of a dark little stream—was only a hundred feet distant in the wood. Now that she was out of sight of the shore, she broke into a frenzied run.

GROVEPORT, O.

Groveport Farmer Tells How Ka-di-ok Gave Him New Life and Strength After a Long Spell of Sickness.

Mr. George W. Swesey, a farmer of Groveport, O., in a signed statement just recently made, says: "I cannot say anything too good for Ka-di-ok; it has given me a new lease of life. Before I took it I had stomach trouble, bad headaches and pains in my back and right side; I had frequent dizzy spells and would be unable to see anything for a few minutes. I was even told by a doctor that I was suffering from locomotor ataxia. At all events I was in a very miserable condition and scarcely fit to do anything. Now I can eat, sleep and work as good as the average person. I did more work this fall than it has been possible for me to do the past five years; I cut over 600 shocks of corn and husked. I should judge, about 1500 bushels. I can truthfully say that I am in better condition today than I have been for the last ten years, and I give Ka-di-ok all the credit for it."

Ka-di-ok can be had at Herpich's Drug Store, Fourth and Main, and at all drug stores in Columbus and surrounding towns.

A SHOT CRACKED OVER THE SEA.

then he sobered, watching with glittering eyes.

"Let it go," he ordered simply. His right arm lifted slowly as if in inadvertence, and rested almost limp across his breast. His blond beard hid the contemptuous curl of his lips.

Knutsen's hand moved toward his hip. In the cups of the gun lights in the old North, it had never moved more swiftly. In this second of need he had remembered his pistol.

But he remembered it too late. And his great nail, though fast, was infinitely slow. The great arm that lay across Doomsdorf's breast suddenly flashed out and up. The blue steel of a revolver barrel streaked in the air and a shot cracked over the sea.

Knutsen was already loosed from the bonds that held him. Deliverance had come quickly. His face, black before with wrath, grew blank, and for a long instant he groped impotently, open hands reaching. But the head had gone straight home, and there was no need of a second shot. The late captain of the Charon swayed, then pitched forward into the gray waters.

XIV

Bess had followed the trail through the snow clear to the dark edge of the woods when the sound of voices behind her caused her to turn. Neither Doomsdorf nor Knutsen had spoken loudly. Indeed their tones had been more subdued than usual, as is often the way when men speak in moments of absolute test. Bess had not made out the words; only the deep silence and the movements of the wind from the sea enabled her to hear the voices at all. Thus it was curious that she whirled, face blanching, in knowledge of the impending crisis.

Thereafter the drama on the shore seemed to her as something that could not possibly be true.

Except for the fact that Doomsdorf stood alone on the shore, it might have been all the factless incident of a tragic dream.

Slowly she stiffened, rallying her faculties, fighting off the apathy of

N. & W. FIREMAN KILLED NEAR WHEELERSBURG

Z. T. Maynard Met Instant Death When Head Hit Girder On Pine Creek Bridge

Z. T. Maynard, fireman on extra westbound N. and W. freight train 1337, which left Williamson, W. Va., at noon Monday, was instantly killed shortly before 10 o'clock Monday night when, leaning too far out the cab of his engine, his body struck an iron girder on the bridge spanning Pine creek, a mile east of the N. and W. station in Wheelersburg.

The train had almost reached the N. and W. depot when Maynard was killed, and then Engineer A. Tyree and Conductor Maynard decided to send their train back in an effort to learn what had happened to their fireman.

As they neared the bridge they saw Maynard's body lying near the shore. His head was crushed and his death was instantaneous. The body was later moved to the Lynn mortuary, Second street. There it was prepared for burial and was today placed on N. and W. train No. 16 and sent to his home at Dinnlow, W. Va., where the last rites will be held in the dead man's home. The body was accompanied by a Dinnlow by a brother, Roy Maynard, also an N. and W. employee, who reached Portsmouth this morning after leaving that his brother had been killed.

Coroner Fowler was called and is making an investigation of the fatality. At division headquarters of the N. and W. in East Portsmouth, it was stated today that all phases of the accident would be investigated. While Maynard did not reside here, he was well and favorably known in local railroad circles.

The bridge at Pine creek, in addition to the steel girders, carries a third set of braces between the double tracks because of the heavy duty to which it is subjected. This set of girders, on the inside or left side of the train, on which the fireman is stationed, was the set which is supposed to have caused the death of Maynard.

When he toppled from the engine, he fell to the ties between the double tracks, and then, as they are widely spaced, through a crevice to the creek 30 feet below, where his body was found floating at the edge of the creek. Alex Tyree, engineer of the train, assisted by conductor M. F. Maynard, (no relation of the dead man), and brakemen R. P. Stett and Olie Adkins, was attempting to drag the body up the steep grade to the tracks when an east-bound train approached. Stopping to determine the cause of the other freight stopping on the bridge, it was easily flagged and members of the crew assisted in carrying Maynard to the pilot of his engine, where he was wrapped in a tarpaulin and the train slowly proceeded to Portsmouth, not reaching here until about midnight.

Head Brakeman Adkins, who was on the engine, remarked to Engineer Tyree when the train was nearing Wheelersburg Station, that the stoker was not working and as this is a job that the fireman usually attends to the engineer looked over to the left side of the cab and found Maynard missing.

The dead man's grip, which he had brought with him on the train with clothing, was left in custody of the train crew to be turned over to the railroad company and sent to Maynard's family.

When the body was stripped and examined at Lynn's mortuary, a receipted bill and five cents were the sole effects found in the pockets of the clothing, indicating that all personal property was in his hand bag.

The clothing was still wet from his fall to the creek, which, however, resulted in no bone breaks in parts of the body other than the head.

How Maynard happened to be leaning from the cab is a mystery, however. He is known to have been over this section of the road frequently, and therefore, acquainted with the Pine Creek crossing. He is also said to have been an N. & W. fireman for a number of years, his length in the service being unestablished definitely Tuesday, and could therefore have been accustomed to using caution at all such places.

Mr. Maynard would have stayed last night at the Harvey Lambert home, 2808 Walnut street, where he usually lodges, had he not met his death. The train which carried him to his tragic end left Williamson, W. Va., yesterday noon with a long string of coal cars. During the evening Maynard passed his home at Dinnlow (Dome Station), W. Va., and waved to his wife and several children there, members of the train crew declared. They had come to the front porch of their little home to greet him as he passed, and as the train curved around the base of Mt. Vernon, Maynard waved his cap to them and they saw him for the last time.

As far as could be determined last night, because of his mangled condition, Maynard was about 30 years old. Members of the train crew said that there were about five children on the porch with Mrs. Maynard as the train passed, and that above the roar of the loaded coal train they could realize that they were shouting greetings to "Daddy," who can never return to them.

DEMPSEY HAS NO FIXED PLAN OF BATTLE

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 11 (By the A. P.)—When Jack Dempsey steps out of his corner in this Polo Grounds ring Friday night to defend his title against Luis Angel Firpo, he will have no fixed plan of battle in mind except to be careful, not run any dangerous risks, wait for the first opening, and then crash over with the "hardest sock I can whenever I can land."

The heavy-weight champion hunched in a heavy sweater, and drawing his chair close to a fire that roared in the little stove in the living room of his training cottage, declared today he never planned a fight in advance that to do so would be a mistake, because, he said, the best of plans may be swiftly upset with a solid smash on the chin.

"Then you are in a tough spot, and haven't time to rearrange your ideas," Dempsey explained. "The title holder still has a trace of the cold he contracted ten days ago; but it is not bothering him much. He said he weighed about 193 pounds and probably would enter the ring weighing about 190. The champion, because of his build, could pass as a middle-weight. His thin legs are as hard as steel cables; his waist is as thin as a woman's and his body is lean, without an ounce of superfluous weight."

Dempsey will wind up his training tomorrow with a couple of rounds of boxing, just enough to get him warmed up.

The champion will take his last shave today, when he goes to town from camp, twelve miles away, for a hair cut. He wants to have at least three days' growth of black stubble in his face, because, he says, there is less danger of a cut from a rasping blow. He contends the skin would be too tender by shaving.

Feel Tired, Achy—"All Worn Out?"

Are you tortured with constant backache—dead, weak, all morning after the least exertion? Then look to your kidneys. When the kidneys weaken, poisons accumulate in the system and cause nagging backache, stinging pains, headaches and dizziness. You feel nervous, irritable and "blue." Don't wait! Neglect may lead to serious kidney sickness. Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Jap Relief Fund Nears Goal; Expect To Reach Mark, Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Contributions to the Nation's Relief Fund for the Japanese earthquake sufferers were expected by Red Cross officials here to pass today the $5,000,000 minimum asked when local chapters took up the campaign for donations. Estimated returns and collections during the day it was hoped would bring up the approximately $800,000 needed to reach the goal.

Anticipating that the amount thus would be made available, a meeting of executive committee of the Red Cross had been called to take action on the cabinet request of Ambassador Woods that $1,000,000 be placed at the immediate disposal of the organization's relief committee in Japan for quick purchase of vitally needed supplies. Following receipt of the Ambassador's message, the urgency of the situation also was stressed in a dispatch to the navy department from Admiral Anderson, who described conditions as "terrible and beyond estimation of future needs." A statement that "money now being collected, will be utilized for actual relief" was issued last night by Chairman John Barton Payne, of the Red Cross.

Rev. Chandler Receives Call To Newark; Other M. E. Ministers Seek Changes

As the time for holding the annual Ohio M. E. conference in Columbus next week approaches, much speculation has been indulged in relative to changes in local M. E. pulpits. The conference opens Wednesday, September 19, in the Oakwood M. E. church, in Columbus, with Bishop Anderson in charge. It is almost a foregone conclusion that all three local M. E. ministers will seek pastures new. Rev. C. E. Chandler, for eight years pastor of Barclay M. E. church, has received a call to the First M. E. church in Newark, Ohio, and with the approval of Bishop Anderson he will accept the call, which was unanimous. Rev. Chandler also received three others, but he stated today he preferred to go to Newark. He conferred with Bishop Anderson in Columbus last week about the call. Rev. C. W. Brady, pastor of Manly M. E. church for two years, will not return here. His new appointment will be made by Bishop Anderson. It was stated today that Rev. W. C. Millikan, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, would in all likelihood not be returned to Portsmouth, although nothing of a definite nature will be given out until the M. E. appointments.

Legion Swamped

With Business At

Closing Session

SPRINGFIELD, O., Sept. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Business sessions of the Fifth Annual Convention of the Department of Ohio, American Legion, started this morning at the Memorial Hall here. The convention closes today.

Among the more important matters of business to come before the convention are resolutions defining the attitude of the legion toward the Ku Klux Klan; a recommendation of the special orphans' committee that the Legion contribute $5,000 toward a fund to build a library at the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia; a resolution calling on the state department to demand a fair trial for Grover Griffith, of Hamilton, Ohio, Legionnaire, now under arrest in Germany in connection with alleged attempt to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger; a resolution asking the lifting of present limitations on further issuance of distinguished service crosses; and a resolution asking action by congress to create a special committee to deal solely with legislation concerning World War Veterans.

Reports of state officers and committees were submitted this morning. The organization committee reported that Ohio now ranks fifth among the states in total paid-up membership, having a total of 39,500. John Taylor, Cambridge, state treasurer, reported total assets of $4,435. The service committee reported a total of 1,200 claims adjusted, the total amount involved being $110,559.79. The executive division committee reported Ohio has over-subscribed its quota of $1,000,200 toward the fund being raised by the legion for decoration of overseas graves by $208,47, being the only one of the larger states to over-subscribe its quota.

Selection of state officers will be held this afternoon and the next convention city will be chosen then also. The annual Legion parade was held yesterday with about 3,500 men in line. There were nine bands and drum corps. The American Legion Auxiliary was also represented in the parade.

True Beauty

Is impossible to those who leave film on teeth

Prettier teeth form one great beauty item. And millions now enjoy them. Every day they are combating the dingy coats of film.

This offers you a ten-day test of the method they employ. It is used by dainty people of some 50 nations now. And you will always use it when you once see what it does.

That cloudy film

The clouds on teeth are due to film—that viscous film you feel. Much of it clings and stays on teeth under old-way brushing.

Soon that film discolors, then forms dingy coats which hide the luster of the teeth.

Film also causes most tooth troubles. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germes breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Hardly one in fifty, in the old days, escaped these film-caused troubles.

New-day methods

Dental science has now found two ways to fight that film. One acts to disintegrate the film at all stages of formation. The other removes it without harmful scouring. Those methods were proved effective by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily.—The name is Pepsodent. Now this tooth paste is in worldwide use, largely by dental advice. Wherever you go you see the benefits it brings.

Natural ways

Pepsodent acts in natural, gentle ways. Its effects do not come from harsh grit.

Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, also its starch digestant. One is to neutralize mouth acids, the other to digest starch deposits. These great natural tooth-protecting agents gain manifold power from each use.

Pepsodent will bring you a new conception of what clean teeth mean. Send for this 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the cloudy coats disappear.

Do this for your own sake and your family's sake. Cut out the coupon now.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combant which contains harsh grit.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, marriage, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I want to go out in the country and get some pine trees, and I wonder if this is the right time to transplant them?

September is the proper time for transplanting pine trees and evergreen trees. When digging the trees a large ball of dirt should be taken up with them.

Dear Dolly—I have a dark blue robe de chambre dress and every drop of water spots it. Will you please tell me what will take these clothes out?

You might have it dry-cleaned or colored. If it is just a plain dress you could wash it in Lux or Ivory dakes and at least have it all alkali.

Miss Dolly Wise—Will you kindly answer in the Times if there is a bus that runs from Portsmouth to Chillicothe, and where in Portsmouth do you take it? What time does it leave and what is the fare?

The first bus leaves the Washington Hotel at 6:25 o'clock every morning. Stops are made at various other points, including Third and Chillicothe, Fifth and Chillicothe, and Ninth and Chillicothe. The fare one way is $2.75.

Dear Dolly—Would you please tell me which are the largest churches in town?

INQUISITIVE.
St. Peter's, Rome, seating 54,000; Milan cathedral, seating 37,000; St. Paul's, London, seating 23,000; St. Sophia's, Constantinople, seating 21,000; Notre-Dame, Paris, seating 21,000; and Florence cathedral, Italy, seating 20,000.

Sweet Sixteen—Would advise you to call on Supr. Appel at the High School building and he will tell you whether or not you will have to attend school this year, and if you are entitled to a school certificate, he will give it to you.

Disappointed Wife—A man likes a healthy, happy wife, regardless of the conditions under which she lives. Of course there are exceptions, but I am speaking of the general rule. If a woman wants to keep her husband's love she should try to be cheerful. A whining woman will soon drive every member of her family out of the house. Instead of playing the role of a miscreant wife, change your tactics and make your husband's hours at home as free from complaint and so full of peace and good-will that he will be willing to go away from home for his enjoyment. If you will do this, you will soon see a change in your husband.

MRS. G. W. HALL SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio.—"Indeed, your medicine is all you say it is! I had very severe troubles such as women often have, and could do no heavy work. I was sick for several years, and from reading your ads. I finally decided to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now doing my own washing, and have returned to my normal health after several years, and can walk long distances without those dragging pains and weak feelings. The Vegetable Compound is fine, and I never forget to say a good word for it to other women when they say they need something."—Mrs. G. W. HALL, 639 Hazel Avenue, Lima, Ohio.

There are many women who find their household duties almost unbearable owing to some weakness or derangement. The trouble may be slight, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, weakness and a run-down feeling. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Hall's experience is but one of many.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

HOW BABY LAMB WAS SAVED

"Baby Lamb had awakened and wandered off."

MISTER GALLOP, the cowboy fairy, and Nancy and Nick were sitting down to supper in the red-rock cave, when suddenly they heard a noise.

The fairyman grabbed his lasso and leaned on his big hat. "Come on, kids," he shouted. "Something's wrong. Jump on your ponies and we'll beat it for Trouble Farm."

Well, you may be sure the Twins lost no time. They were at the cave door almost as soon as their host.

But suddenly they stopped, all three of them. Who wouldn't, indeed, with Chatterbox Magpie sitting in a tree and laughing like a goose.

"Why I— is anything wrong?" demanded Mister Gallop angrily, for he hated to be fooled.

"Oh, oh, oh," screamed Chatterbox holding his silly sides. "Excuse me while I laugh, but really I think I'll bust. Bust, I mean! Oh, oh, ha, ha, ha! 'That was a good one!'"

He wiped his eye with his wing finally and pulled a straight face. "Sit down, sit down," he said weakly. "And I'll tell you all about it. Oh, me, oh my! Oh, hum!"

"It's about Sniffer-Ky-ot," he went on finally. "He got fooled again. And I'll bet you he won't sit down to his dinner this week or next. And maybe not the week after."

"What happened?" demanded Mister Gallop.

"That somebody was Mister Ky-ot," said Chatterbox. "Worse than that. It was this way. I went down to Mr. Ranch Man's meadow to look for bugs, and there were Mister Ram and Misses Sheep and Baby Lamb, all having a snooze. That is, Mister Ram and Misses Sheep were snoozing, but Baby Lamb had awakened up and wandered off, nibbling bits of juicy sweet grass with his funny little nose and looking kind of sweet and juicy himself to somebody who was watching 'tother side of the fence."

"That somebody was Mister Ky-ot," I saw him, but nobody else did, and he was licking his lips and grinning. 'All at once he made a jump through the fence and grabbed Baby Lamb before I could call out a warning. But I didn't need to. For suddenly something came at Sniffer-Ky-ot like a cannon ball and buried him over the fence clear into the middle of next week. Oh, me! Oh, my! I nearly died when I think of it. It was Mister Ram—and he was as mad as a hornet."

Chatterbox had to stop to giggle again.

"Come on, children," said the fairyman, hanging up his hat. "We can finish our supper in peace. I hope Sniffer has learned a good lesson."

Sally Ann SAYS

Tomorrow is the big day—Dollar Day. This is the day when Portsmouth women and their maids too neglect the dishes, leave beds un-made, tell hubby to stay down town for lunch, and hie themselves to the shopping district early in the morning and stay there all day, visiting every store, seeing what each store has to offer and buying liberally there-of. A day of real bargains for the women of Portsmouth and vicinity and a hard, busy, but happy day for the store folks.

Now the Fashion doesn't handle anything that can be sold for a dollar. So this happy plan has been decided upon. Should you buy a coat, suit or dress at the Fashion Wednesday you are privileged to select a $7.50 hat, blouse or silk petticoat for only one dollar.

I think this is a splendid plan. It means a saving of six fifty to you and really these garments selected to be sold at one dollar are real beauties. For instance the hats all are Monterey velvets in all shades including purple, black, Bevan, wood, poppy, etc.; off the face shapes, jockey shapes, turbans and large picture hats. The blouses are headed, crepe de chimes, Jacquard silks, French crepes, etc., in the newest modes. The petticoats are of Belding's satin, Pussywillow silk, silk jersey, etc., in every wanted shade.

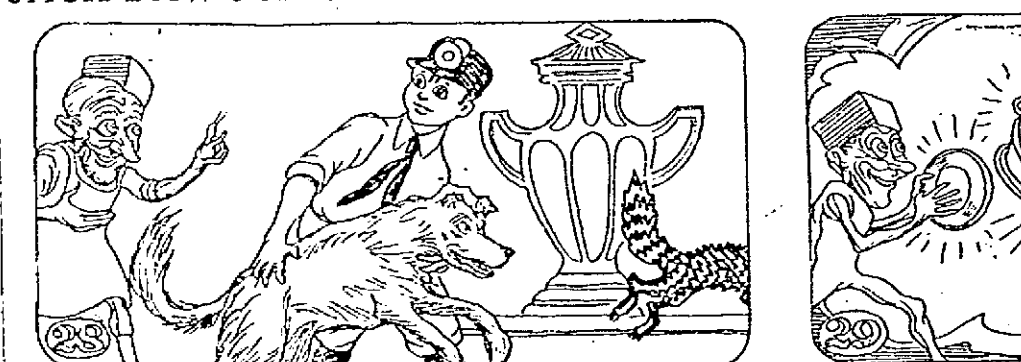

More Wednesday.

By this time the little workmen were back at their benches and Jack Daw again appeared. "If you think this place is pretty, you should see Earth again," said she. "Come this way and I will tell the guards to let you in." Jack followed her to another silver gate. (Continued.)

Treasury Certificates In Demand

It was announced Monday by Postmaster W. H. Harsha that during the month of August the sales of Treasury Savings Certificates at the Portsmouth Post Office amounted to $7,725.

"People should beware of the 'promises' of the many volves of finance infesting the country offering fraudulent 'blue-sky' schemes for their hard earned dollars," is the warning of Postmaster Harsha. "These smooth-talking gentlemen promise to make an investor rich quickly but the crash of many stock-selling organizations during the past few months is striking evidence that a high rate of return is not compatible with safety or principle."

The Postmaster pointed out that Treasury Savings Certificates, issued by the Government, offer a well developed plan to make money grow with absolute safety; speculation, anxiety and danger of loss are all eliminated.

These certificates are on sale at all times at the local post office in denominations of $1,000, $100 and $25 at cost prices of $820, $82, and $8.20 respectively.

GALLIA PIKE PAVING COMPLETED C. OF C. PLANS BIG CELEBRATION

Tell it to the wide, wide world. The last brick on the Gallia pike paving has been laid.

Yes, to be exact, it was laid at 3:27 Monday afternoon. The grout filler was poured on it a short time later and then a paved roadway to the Lawrence county line became a reality.

The road will be opened to traffic not later than Sept. 21 and possibly a little sooner.

The Chamber of Commerce has plans under way to celebrate the opening of the road and there is no doubt but what many local merchants and citizens will take part as they realize what the completion of this road means in a mercantile way to Portsmouth.

After Saturday all but 230 feet of the paving will be ready for use. A stretch of 230 feet has just been completed but a short detour will be maintained at the end of the road for this short distance. This means that the Portsmouth detour will not have to be used after Saturday.

The paving is of brick on a concrete base with a grout fill. The job makes one solid piece of paving as the brick is laid in the fresh concrete without a sand cushion.

The H. N. Snyder Company of Columbus had the contract. The terms remain to be finished and an inspector on the job last night announced that when the road is opened drivers of machines will have to drive carefully in order not to cause accidents with teams or men working the herms.

Unique Distinction.
The only instance of a deliberate suicide in the Old Testament is that of Abithope, counselor to King David, and of Absalom. His counsel was slighted and he hanged himself 1023 B. C.

Nellie Revell Wins

Nellie Revell, famous press agent, has left St. Vincent's Hospital in New York City. She lay on her back there four years. Doctors said she would never be able to get up, due to her spine affliction. She is now able to sit up and walk a bit. Here she is surrounded by flowers, fruits and gifts of friends after her home-coming.

Beautiful "Princess" On Trial For Life In 'Old Bailey,' London's Famed Criminal Court; Unmoved By Testimony

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Correspondent)
LONDON, Sept. 11.—(By the United Press)—"Princess" Marguerite Fahmy sat in the defendant's dock at Old Bailey today and with dark, dry eyes, heard witnesses align her for the alleged slaying of her husband, the so-called prince, whose policy with women was: "One must act with energy and be severe." Arthur Marlmann, night manager at the Savoy Hotel, told the court how he ran to the Fahmy suite to find the prince on the floor near death from a bullet wound, early one morning. His wife stood nearby.

Police Hall gave details in connection with the arrest of the beautiful Fahmy woman.

The defendant sat through it all unmoved, her black seal coat clutched about her and her eyes shielded with a full veil. She speaks no English, and was informed of the progress of the trial by her attorneys, who interpreted the proceedings.

ELMETS WORN BY CRABS

Members of Lobster Family Wear Spiked Cap When Very Young.

You can see from his legs and arms, and from his armor-plated shell, that the crab is related to the lobster. But what has happened to him? It is there all right, his tail? It is tucked up under him. Turn him on his back and you will see it.

In his young days the crab is like a tadpole, except that he has on his head what looks like a little round helmet provided with a long sharp spike. At this time of his life he swims about actively.

Presently he sheds the skin he is wearing, and emerges a fully developed creature. The spiked cap is gone, with his head now mounted on stalks. The tail has grown longer and it is armed with row of swimming paddles.

At the next change of skin the tail is shorter and broader and the tail is smaller. Successive moltings bring him gradually nearer and nearer to his final shape, and eventually he tucks his tail under him, adopts a sideways gait, and becomes the crab as we know him.

WATER PART OF CEREMONY

Members of Royal Family and Others Imbibe at Palace in Bangkok.

Twice a year a water-drinking ceremony takes place in the principal temple near the royal palace in Bangkok, Siam. On this occasion, all the members of the royal family, as well as the military and civil officials, gather in the temple, and the king, making a profound obeisance, falling on his knees, and then drinking of the water contained in the golden jar, in which are soaked spear-heads and other instruments of war, and sprinkling it on his forehead.

This is the great oath day, and formerly the officials on taking the oath were paid the next six months' salary in a lump sum, says the Detroit News. The officials who live far from Bangkok, and cannot personally present themselves before the royal presence, gather in the office of the chief functionary of the locality, where the holy water has been sent from Bangkok, and go through a similar process of drinking and sprinkling. It is said that of late years some of the foreign employees have been taking part in the function, to testify their loyalty to the Siamese monarch.

Object of "Round Robin."

"Round Robin" is a name often given to a petition signed by a number of persons in circular form. By putting the signatures in a circle undue prominence to any particular person is avoided. This method is often employed when the leaders of a secret undertaking for redress of grievances are afraid to sign their names at the top of the list on a protest or remonstrance to a public authority. If a round robin is properly signed it is impossible to detect which signatures were placed on the paper first. The principle is similar to that which caused the legendary King Arthur to seat high knights at round tables. According to tradition Arthur's council table was semi-circular in form and each knight present was the same distance from the distinguished king. The round table was to avoid jealousy among the different members of a company—the round robin is to protect the leaders of a possibly dangerous enterprise.

Camels Induced to Smoke.

In Morocco, when the natives are training wild camels, they make them docile by inducing them to smoke tobacco. The camels are reined, and placed in the end of a three-cornered piece of wood through which a hole has been drilled, says the Irish Tobacco Trade Journal. "As soon as the camel begins to draw, he becomes docile and quickly grasps the art of inhaling the smoke passing through his nostrils. One defect of the training is that Mr. Camel is apt ever after to insist on smoking at work."

Silenced.

A newly-married couple were entertaining their friends, and among the guests was one whose continued rudeness made him objectionable to the rest of the company. His conduct, although almost unbearable, was tolerated for some time, until at supper he held up on his fork a piece of white meat which had been served to him, and in a vein of intended humor remarked, "Is this pig?"

To which end of the fork do you refer?

asked a quiet-looking man sitting at the other end of the table.

Couldn't Discourage Him.

Bobby wanted a donkey and he had seen one in a nearby field. "What would happen if I stole that donkey?" he asked his father. "You would get six months in prison."

Hairs on the Human Head.

One authority says an average head of hair may consist of as many as 140,000 hairs of the finer shades, and red hair about 30,000. A count of the hairs on a square inch of scalp on numerous heads gives an average of 1,000 per square inch; on certain other heads the figures are close to zero.

Sticking Close to His Job.

Retired Auctioneer—What can you give my daughter? Prospective Son-in-Law—A thousand dollars a year allowance, an auto, a country mansion—Retired Auctioneer (absent-mindedly)—Sold.

More to the Point.

"Mr. Darling," said the movie director, "in this scene I don't want you for 500 feet." "Five hundred feet?" interrupted the actor. "Yes, and no more than that—understand?" "The hero nodded. "Yes, I understand, but does the lion?"

Seeing Is Believing.

Customer—Have you got any hair nets? Clerk—Yes, ma'am. Customer—Invisible? Clerk—Yes, ma'am. Customer—Let's see one.

Far From The Maddening Crowd

Charles G. Steinmetz, wizard of electricity, finds a quiet spot on the Mohawk river near Schenectady, N. Y. There with board stretched across the gulleys of his canoe he works out new problems in volts and watts. Although Steinmetz has spent his summers for 25 years at this camp, this is the first picture of him to be taken there.

Ford Granted Time Extension On Gorgas Unit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—The Alabama Power Company today agreed to extend the time within which the government must determine whether it will sell to the power company its interest in the Gorgas unit and transmission line of the Muscle Shoals, Alabama, project.

The extension granted was only for a ten day period until October 24, although Secretary Weeks had asked for a delay until November 1. The extra time was desired that Henry Ford might be allowed to consider fully whether he will eliminate the Gorgas property from the offer. He has made to purchase and lease the Muscle Shoals project.

Northwest M. E. Conference Meets

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—The twelfth annual meeting of the Northwest Ohio Methodist Episcopal Conference opens here this afternoon. The usual welcoming addresses will be responded to by Bishop William F. Anderson, of Cincinnati, who will preside at the Conference, at which there will be memorial services.

Social welfare and education figures prominently in the reports of Superintendents of the ten districts comprising the Conference. There are 500 churches and 500 ministers in the district.

Mayor And City Auditor Present Opposing Claims At Council Meeting; Committee Named To Investigate

By a vote of 5 to 4 City Council at its adjourned session Monday night adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a nonpartisan committee to probe the charges of blunders and derelictions of duty on the part of unnamed city officials made by Mayor William N. Gableman in a special message a week ago, by which he claimed a partial investigation had disclosed that the taxpayers of the city stand to lose thousands of dollars through mismanagement of city funds.

City Auditor Chandler denied in an open letter to the mayor that there is anything wrong with his books; and at the meeting last night a clear-cut issue was presented with the mayor claiming one thing and the auditor another. To get at the facts it was decided to appoint a committee.

President Albert Weghorst presided over the meeting and the entire membership answered to roll-call. The vote on the proposition of ordering the matter investigated came at the end of a long debate during which the mayor's communication on the subject was discussed at great length and Auditor J. Earl Chandler had been given an opportunity to be heard in defense of his department.

Member Charles Whitliff offered the resolution providing for the appointment of a nonpartisan committee to consist of one Democrat and one Republican to audit the records with a view of correcting the alleged blunders and fix responsibility.

Seven members voted in favor of the probe as roll-call, but when Member C. C. Horr voted in the negative, explaining that he opposed any action in the matter by council until after the state examiner makes his report, two of his Republican colleagues, Members Emma Cramer and Walter L. Dickey, dropped out of the proposition and changed their votes against the measure, which received the support of Messrs. Bauer, Whitliff, Vesinial, Kountz and Delner on the final vote, with Miss Cramer, Dickey

Horr and Unger voting in the negative. At the outset Auditor Chandler, on being granted the privilege of speaking in defense of himself, took up one by one the parts of the mayor's communication which referred to his department and gave his answer to the charges, frequently referring to the record books from his office in an effort to prove that he was not responsible for the alleged bad state of affairs.

Chandler further sought to shift responsibility for existing conditions in respect to city finances to the service and engineering departments when he was quizzed through a long list of queries by Mayor Gableman. The auditor in regard to some of the questions asked that they be put in writing and that he be given time to answer and his request will be complied with.

After the mayor and auditor had finished their verbal "set-to," Member Whitliff, representative from the Sciotoville district, took the floor and stated that while he confessed to knowing nothing about city finances, said that as both the principals to the dispute had "fingers" to prove their contention, he thought it would be advisable to look into the matter as something was evidently wrong with the system under which the city's funds are handled, where, he suggested, the fault might be found.

Mayor Gableman at this juncture promptly assured council that the system was not at fault, as it was prescribed by the Bureau of Public Accounting. The mayor declared that the system was all right, and claimed that the affairs would not be in such a fix if it had been followed.

Then followed Mr. Whitliff's motion to probe the records in the auditing, service and engineering departments in reference to street and alley and sewer improvements to ascertain, if possible, what is wrong with the accounts, if anything, and fix the blame.

The four members of the sinking fund trustees, Messrs. George E. Krickler, Ben H. Dillon, Robert Bryan and John C. Bauer, were conspicuous by their absence, the fact developing that they had not been invited officially, though it was hinted they were highly interested, and most concerned in reference to the matter.

Mr. Bauer came into the room late, however, but did not arrive in time to hear much of the discussion. Mr. Horr, in opposing the probe, stated that the state examiner had just completed an inspection of city accounts and that it would be wise to wait for his report, rather than go to the big expense of employing accountants to go over the same ground, and Members Cramer, Dickey and Unger sided with him, though it was pointed out that the examiner's report will not be available for at least four months, which prompted Member Dierker to remark that if an official wanted to be crooked he could get away with the entire city in that time. Those opposed to the probe related by referring to the mayor's statement that it would require several months to make the audit necessary to straighten out the mess.

Answering the attack on his department for alleged failing to keep separate accounts for each improvement, the auditor declared that the street and alley improvement fund had not been kept in one big fund as claimed, and exhibited a big book and invited a checking of the funds recorded therein, and he turned through the book and claimed that each improvement had a separate and distinct itemized account. Further along the auditor raised the question as to whether or not the engineering and service department were not at fault in not furnishing estimates upon which more accurate bond issues could be authorized to provide funds to pay for improvements.

Chandler asserted that he had opened the ledger carrying the separate accounts for each improvement in 1920, but Mayor Gableman insisted that the record was opened last July and insisted that he has reliable proof of his statement.

At the close of the meeting Mayor Gableman declared that not a legal assessment has been made in this city during the last three years, and estimates that the city will lose $100 and double that amount should taxpayer go into the courts and see sewer assessments, which would result in the city having to shoulder the entire burden of all improvements made during the period, "stand on my report," the mayor added.

The question has been raised as to the legality of the investigating committee provided inasmuch as the State Bureau of Accounting has a charge of such matters, and it is quite likely that a special examiner will be asked for to make the audit because, it is claimed, the inspection just completed by a state auditor does not include the matters at issue in this controversy.

Two items of business came before the council: an ordinance to limit traffic on North street and on Galbraith and Walnut streets from Norfolk street to the east corporation line was brought in by the railroad company. Attorney A. H. Hanna appeared for the railway company and agreed to lease ground for the parking of machines belonging to the company's employees, and the ordinance was held up two weeks.

The matter of making a survey to establish grades in an alley between Second and Third streets and west of Chillicothe was referred to the engineer.

Red Cross Drive Nears Goal

Although the workers on the Red Cross campaign for the Japanese Relief Fund have been doing their very best to reach the minimum of $5,000, it is believed that some people have not contributed as yet, and it would be a great help if they would send their subscription at once to headquarters in the First National Bank building.

America, the land of plenty, has been called upon to help a country that has been nearly wiped out by earthquakes and tidal waves. President Coolidge has called for $5,000, 600, and every citizen should respond to the issue.

Word was received last night by the local officials of the drive that a call has been issued by the relief committee in Japan for $1,000,000 at once, in addition to huge quantities of food and supplies that are already on the way to Japan. This makes it more imperative that our quota be reached soon as possible, and anything over the quota will be welcome, for it is much needed.

Although many have shown a wonderful spirit of generosity, the amount already collected in this district is inadequate to meet the quota of $5,000, and it is hoped that today's collections will put the drive far "Over the Top." The managers of the stores are asked to bring the donations left in the boxes placed in different parts of the stores to the Red Cross headquarters this evening so that the amount may be tallied with the other contributions. The boxes should be returned to their places in the stores so that additional contributions can be made.

Officials of the drive appreciate the spirit of co-operation shown by the street car company in placing the contribution boxes near the fare boxes on the street cars, and the donations received in this way have amounted to quite a little.

It was stated from the local chapter of the Red Cross that the campaign will continue throughout this week.

The officials of the drive made a statement of appreciation, which follows: "We extend to those who have aided our drive our most sincere appreciation for their efforts and contributions, and trust that by completing our quota at once all concerned may receive the credit due for the splendid work."

undeserved defeat. It would be poetic justice to restore him if he wants the Senatorship.

"The friends of Calvin Coolidge predict that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination and that William M. Butler, Republican National Committeeman, from Massachusetts, will be another."

There is no telling what the attitude of President Coolidge will be toward the selection of a Republican nominee for United States Senator in his own state. Usually a President is consulted about such things. Mr. Wilson had much to do with the New Jersey Senatorial primaries when he was in the White House, and while Mr. Harding outwardly refrained from interference in Ohio, his close friends did participate in the 1922 primaries there.

There always has been talk of Mr. Weeks returning to the Senate, where he made a good record, leaving the majority of his party associates to vote for the Federal Reserve Act when the Democrats were in control of Congress and otherwise showing an independence of action which was widely commented on at the time. Mr. Weeks is also considered as the most likely successor to Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon in case he ever decides to retire from public life.

Mr. Mellon is valued highly by President Coolidge and practically everybody in the administration would dislike to see him retire, but he has been represented at times as desirous of leaving the arduous tasks of public office for a less active life.

He has large business interests to supervise which have not been getting his time and attention. Probably no man has made bigger sacrifices to serve the government.

Mr. Weeks is close to the new president, of course, as they were associated in Massachusetts politics and would be so in any cabinet post. But he originally would have preferred the secretaryship of the treasury when Mr. Harding selected him for Secretary of War. Mr. Weeks was a banker before he went into politics. There is also the possibility that Mr. Weeks might aspire to the leadership of the senate if he returned to that body. There is no certainty that Senator Henry Cabot Lodge will care to remain as Republican leader. Mr. Underwood relinquished the Democratic leadership because of the strain of the job. Mr. Weeks if re-elected to the Senate, would be recognized in any contest for leadership as eminently desirable.

So the Massachusetts Senatorial situation has possibilities in it, and before long the pilgrims from that state will be seeking Mr. Coolidge's advice as well as influence in deciding upon a candidate for the Republican nomination.

Commission Hands Down Decision In Valuation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—After many months of investigation the Interstate Commerce Commission today finally disposed of the first two contented cases to come before it under the new law authorizing it to fix a physical valuation for railroads as a basis for rate making.

"Final single sum values" of $45,000,000 for the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Company and $28,245,237 for the Atlantic

Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad Company, were fixed by the two decisions as a result of extended hearings and examination into protests which had been filed against the valuations previously announced for the two lines.

"The Atlanta-Birmingham and Atlantic has contended that the original cost and development of its properties and its working capital would cost not less than $30,000,000 to reproduce. A claim of $75,000,000 was made by the San Pedro line as the value of its property as a going concern."

The finding in the San Pedro case declared that about $25,000,000 in capital stock delivered to E. H. Harriman and William A. Clark should be deducted from the value of the carriers' stated investment account. The commission reviewed at length the methods by which Messrs. Harriman and Clark obtained the stock, holding that it was "proper under all circumstances" to eliminate the $25,000,000 from the investment of road and equipment.

Browns Land

A Real Jewel

Out in the Three I league playing with Danyille, there is a third baseman named Rice of whom the boss of the Three I writes that he has not seen a more prepossessing ball player in twenty years. Scouts need not prick up their ears, however, for this rare bird belongs to the St. Louis Americans. Rice leads the league in just everything, from batting to base running and fielding. On paper it looks as if the Browns' hot corner was pretty well taken care of for 1924.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Elizabeth F. Dever
Complications caused the death of Elizabeth Florence Dever, aged 46 years and 7 months, who passed away at her home on Worley's Run, West Side, at an early hour Friday morning, with loved ones at her bedside. She is survived by her husband, Andrew Dever; her mother, Mrs. Harley Davis, of this city, and one brother and six sisters: Edward Davis and Mrs. Harry Yates, of this city; Mrs. Mary Morgan, of Ironton; Mrs. Wright Milton, Columbus; Mrs. Caroline Owens, of White Oak, Ky.; Mrs. Thomas Breech and Mrs. Fred Haffner, of Long Run.

The funeral services were held at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the home on Worley's Run, in charge of Rev. Charles Breech. Burial was held in the Oak Creek Cemetery.

Mr. Townley G. Bellamy
Miss Opal Bellamy has just received word here of the recent death of her great-grandfather, Mr. Townley G. Bellamy, of Kansas City, Oklahoma, who was 105 years old at the time of his death. He was for years a local resident, and since his absence from the western state which followed a health breakdown has been a frequent visitor with his family and old friends here.

Mr. Bellamy, on the occasion of his last visit here about two years ago, attracted considerable attention by reason of his advanced age. At that time he was still hale and hearty, and greeted old friends who came from as far away as distant parts of the state to greet him, with the enthusiastic, warm, friendly greeting which was his when still young.

Mr. Bellamy had remained here, would have been 108 years old next February, and by virtue of his advanced years probably the oldest resident of the county. The line of direct descent here has been broken, being marked only by Miss Opal Bellamy, but a number of other relatives survive.

Samuel R. Jones
Samuel R. Jones, aged 76 years, died Monday, September 10, at his home, near Lynn, after several months' illness with stomach trouble. Mr. Jones was born in Sullivan County, Tennessee, and came to Ohio when a young man and had since made his home here. He is the last of a family of 11 children. Mr. Jones was married in 1854 to Nancy Lee, who died July 24, 1910. To this union were born eight children, all living as follows: Mrs. Alice Lewis, of Lynn; Mrs. Ida Strickland, Mrs. Thelma Smith, of Kentonville; Mrs. Thelma Ashley, of Lynn; Elbert R. Jones, of Black Fork; William Jones, of Lynn; Samuel R. Jones, of Portsmouth, and Edward H. Jones, of Lynn. He was married in 1914 to Mrs. Frances Peery, who survives. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Frank Dalander Wednesday at 10 o'clock at Vernon Church, with burial in Vernon Cemetery.

She Beats Mrs. Coolidge As Knitter

Mrs. B. O. Wyman

When it comes to knitting, Mrs. B. O. Wyman, of Jamestown, R. I., surpasses the excellent needlework of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, First Lady of the Land. For Mrs. Wyman won the $2,000 prize in a national knitting contest, in which Mrs. Coolidge had entered a baby carriage shawl she knitted. A sweater and a scarf set, entered by Mrs. Wyman, were considered better work.

Will Discuss Paving Bids At Open Meeting Tomorrow

After members of the Board of Control at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon discussed from various angles the bids local contractors submitted several days ago for the paving of 15 streets in the city, most of them in new additions, Mayor Gableman, of the board, made a motion to hold an open meeting on the matter at 1:00 p. m. Wednesday. His motion was seconded by Service Director W. E. Cook and Safety Director G. Straus, other members of the board.

No awards were made from the fact that the contractors' figures on the 15 streets were $40,000 higher than the estimates of City Engineer Holmes. His aggregate estimate is $197,421.10 and the aggregate figures of the contractors are $237,008.10. "It looks to me like something is wrong somewhere and I do not wish to take snap judgment in the matter," Mayor Gableman said. "It is a matter in which the abutting property owners are interested, and that is why I deemed it advisable to hold an open meeting on the matter. I, for one, do not want to see a contractor lay a brick in the city unless he makes his legitimate profit, but there is such a discrepancy between the engineer's estimate and the contractors' figures, that I believe the taxpayers will be glad to hear both sides of the question argued."

"I realize materials are possibly higher than our last letting and labor is higher, but that does not alter the case any, and I can see no reason why the contractors' figures are so much higher than Engineer Holmes' estimate."

Engineer Holmes stated that he figured his estimates a little higher than usual and for this reason he too was surprised to learn that the figures of the contractors were so much higher than his.

Alan N. Jordan was present at the meeting and stated that notwithstanding that it would cost him $3,000 more to pave his streets than he had estimated, he was willing to pay the difference rather than have the work delayed any longer. He said it was imperative that more building lots were placed on the market and he was so anxious to go ahead and not have the bids re-advertised for the paving of Briggs avenue and Twenty-Third street, that he would pay the difference out of his own pocket.

"There is something wrong somewhere," Mr. Jordan said as he concluded his talk.

He was followed by Councilman Horr, who said he was opposed to letting the contracts, as it would mean an additional cost of $2 per front foot on the paving of Third and Fourth streets in the York addition. "We could not pay this and I am in favor of making the second letting."

When the mayor asked Engineer Holmes if there had been an increase in the price of brick and labor since the letting of Oakland and Dewey avenues, he said there had been a slight increase, and he figured on it in computing his estimates.

The streets involved in the letting are Fourth through York addition; Avenue, Twenty-Fifth and Twenty-Briggs avenue, Brant avenue, Twenty-Seventh north, Summit, Jackson, Third street, Third through York addition; extension of Grandview west of Market.

Autos Collide; Child Is Hurt

Machines driven by R. I. Isom, of New Boston, and George Sparks, crashed into each other at Seventh and Campbell avenue Tuesday afternoon. Both machines were badly damaged and a child of Mr. and Mrs. Isom was slightly hurt when thrown out of her parents machine.

Court House

Charges Unfaithfulness

Alleging infidelity and nursing one William Carter, John Pignum, 4010 Gallin street, seeks divorce from Mary Pignum, 3825 Rhodes avenue, New Boston, in an action instituted in Common Pleas Court today.

He avers they were married in Covington, Ky., in January, 1921, and says that the defendant has constantly boasted of her association with Carter. Pignum further complains that the defendant continually cursed and abused him during the time he lived with her. He sued through Attorney T. C. Beatty.

Wife Seeks Divorce

On the grounds of neglect and cruelty, Myrtle Jamison seeks divorce in an action instituted in Common Pleas Court today against Floyd Jamison, 822 Second street, whom she married in December, 1922.

In her petition filed through Attorney H. P. Klumb, the plaintiff charges that Jamison has cursed, beat and neglected her, declaring that on numerous occasions while she lived with him, he frequently assaulted her, besides, she claims, he refuses to work and support her until she has been compelled to support herself, while she asserts he has earned his living by bootlegging and other unlawful acts. Furthermore, the wife says Jamison frequently told her that he did not love her and wished she were dead, and she asserts that he has kept her in such a state of mental anguish, that life with him has become a torment, and avers she has been forced to leave him.

Charges Fraud; Seeks Divorce

Harold DeVoss, of this city, charges fraud in his suit for divorce from Marietta DeVoss, New Boston, instituted in Common Pleas Court today.

Through Attorney T. C. Beatty the plaintiff says in his petition that the marriage in October, 1921, was in good faith on his part, but alleges that it was a fraudulent contract and marriage on the part of the defendant whom, he alleges, induced him to marry her on the representation that she was pregnant and that he was the father of her child. DeVoss now claims that, as a matter of fact, the defendant was not pregnant, and claims that, when he learned of the fraud she had practiced, he left her.

Gergens Will Probated

Under the will of William Gergens, late city service director, admitted to probate today, he left his home situated at 1029 Fourteenth street, together with all the household furniture, fixtures and furnishings to his son, Edward M. Gergens, and his son, John Gergens, and two fifty-dollar life bonds each to his granddaughters, Katherine and Emma Louise Knowles, and then directs that the residue be divided equally between the two sons and two granddaughters.

The will, which was executed August 18, 1919, nominates the son, Edward M. Gergens, as executor.

Lads Made Wards of Court

North Thompson, 13, and Barchie Phillips, 12, Lakeside boys, were adjudged delinquents at the conclusion of a hearing in Juvenile Court today and both were made wards of the Court by Judge Gilliland, who repay the costs of prosecution amounting to about $20.

The hearing disclosed that the Thompson boy was given to fighting

CASH REGISTERS TO HUM TOMORROW; 'T'WILL BE DOLLAR DAY

The streets in this man's town will be thronged tomorrow with cash registers to hum. It will be Dollar Day in Portsmouth. Practically the whole town will be out inspecting the many bargains that will be available tomorrow at all the stores. The windows have been filled with samples of the goods that can be purchased in the stores and the passerby have stopped to exclaim at the wonderful bargains. When the stores open tomorrow it probably will be necessary to have a police squad on hand to hold the customers at bay until their turn comes to enter the "land of bargains." Tables will be placed on every corner of the stores and each table space if they will visit the bargain laden stores on Dollar Day. Cash registers will hum a tune ringing up the sales and folks who want real values should plan to come early for, remember, first come, first served. "Dollar Day" from now on is a semi-annual affair in Portsmouth and judging from the interest shown it will be one of the things that is looked forward to from time to time and will be a permanent institution with the progressive merchants of Portsmouth. Dollar Day tomorrow will result in the streets being jammed with bargain seekers as real bargains go for one big, round dollar, on this glad some day.

"PARKA MAN'S" ONE REGRET
Highwayman Did Not Recognize His Pastor—Bishop Was Not Robbed.

Bishop Rowe recently went on record with the following "favorite story": "A fellow known as the 'blue parka man' had been stationing himself between Fairbanks and mine some twenty miles away, and robbing people at the muzzle of a Winchester. A parka is a sort of shirt that fits tight at the wrists, with a hood attachment. The front part of the hood closes with a buckling string, leaving only a place for the wearer to look out of. The 'blue parka man' did well at his enterprise for some months and terrorized those who had to travel between Fairbanks and the mines. I was one of a quartette that had to make a trip one afternoon. People told us about the 'blue parka man,' but it was necessary to take the chance. The 'blue parka man' did get us; making us lay all our money on the ground at the muzzle of his rifle. 'Do you rob ministers, too?' I asked him. 'Depends on who they are,' replied the 'blue parka man.' 'I'm Bishop Rowe of the Episcopal church,' I said. 'W-h-a-t! the 'blue parka man' exclaimed. 'I'm ashamed of myself for not recognizing you, bishop, and I'll not rob you. Hell! I'm a member of your church!'"

WAS ACCORDING TO HOYLE
Great Master of Popular Game Responsible for Rechristening of Whist.

It was an agreeable spectacle to witness Edmund Hoyle (the master of whist, whose code of etiquette for the game has been accepted for six generations) drive up to the Three Pigeons tavern at noon in his white hackney coach with his emblem—the Ace of Hearts—blazoned on the panel. Hoyle was "a man of very speechless humor," who was lured into the study of whist because it was a silent game, says Christopher Morley, in "The Power of Sympathy."

Originally the game was called "whisk"; it was Mr. Hoyle who, by his continual utterance of the imperative and hushing monosyllable "whist!" when gaming with those whose tongues were apt to wag irreverently, caused the diversion, at first only in sport, and then in genuine interest, to be rechristened.

The mornings he spent in tutoring wealthy ladies in the rudiments of the fashionable game, this being the chief source of his income. He was very particular, moreover, as to the standing and rank of his pupils; he was much in demand and could afford to take only such students as satisfied his fastidious taste for youth and beauty.

Honors Reduced to Want.
The highest British decoration for valor in battle, the Victoria cross, does not necessarily pave the way to a good job in peace time. Several winners of the decoration have been found in the ranks of the unemployed, and more than one has tried to pawn his decoration because of the lack of money, but it is illegal for a pawnbroker to accept one as a pledge for a loan. One Victoria cross captain, who won his at the storming of Thiepval, September, 1916, when he was twenty-two years old, has hit upon the idea of touring the villages with a traveling moving-picture show. Two others are acting as advertising agents, while another has gone back to his old job as a surfaceman in a mining village in the midlands. Captain Towse, the famous blind V. C., is working at St. Dunstan's, the London home for blind soldiers started by the late Sir Arthur Pearson.

Boob the Bookman.
Tom Boob got a job as porter in a book store and, during the absence of the proprietor and clerks, undertook to wait on a customer. "This here is a funny place," he said afterward, "and maybe there ain't no funny business in it and out of this store. A man that looked as if he had some sense, came in this morning and I walks right up to him as pleasant as I could. 'Let me see 'The Spenders,'" he said, and I had a notion to say something sarcastic-like, but I didn't. I see a sign, 'Gents' finishing goods next door, and he busted right out laughin' in my face. The idea of looking for 'spenders' in a book shop!"

Short of Bait.
In a Sunday school class in a western town the young woman in charge asked: "And how did Noah spend his time in the ark?" "Fishing," was the suggestion of a boy pupil. "A very reasonable suggestion," said the teacher. "But," continued the boy, "he couldn't have caught much." "What makes you think that?" "Because," answered the lad, "knowing, 'because, you see, he had only two worms with him.'"—Harper's.

He Was Some Tough.
Two negroes were lying behind a packing case on the docks at Bristol taking the labor out of the alleged labor battalion. Said one boastfully: "Boy, Ah comes from a tough hood. My old man done cut his nails with a ax an' brush his teeth with a file." "Huh, ain't so tough. Mah ole man am a plumber an' twice a week he done shave himself with a blow torch."—American Legion Weekly.

In the American League last year while Bagby was pitching for Cleveland, opposing clubs just blazed away at everything he served up. The veteran had slipped so badly that he was the softest kind of a mark. He had simply lost his "riff." It's a wonder that somebody had not tipped off the Pirate owner to Bagby's true condition. He's been taking up room on the bench that could have been used to advantage by a younger hurler. Bagby, by the way, has accepted terms offered by the Seattle Club of the Pacific Coast League, and he will report there next season.

President Lockhart of Seattle, has been in Pittsburgh for the past few days and the deal was completed yesterday. He believes that Bagby will be a winning pitcher on the coast.

To Discuss Raising Of Towpath At Meeting At Courthouse Tomorrow

A public hearing will be held before the court house Wednesday morning on the petition to raise the towpath road on the West Side to above flood stage and to improve what is known as the "Hill road," extending from the lower river road to Union Mills, so as to make it a link to the A. and P. highway. State Highway Commissioner Bonlay is expected to attend the hearing or be represented by the chief engineer of the department.

Miss Myrtle Partlow, of Seventeenth street, entertained with a lovely miscellaneous shower on Monday evening complimenting Miss Anna Lee Goodman, who will soon become the bride of Luther Atkins.

White and yellow was the color scheme carried out in the decorations of autumn, flowers and also in the ices and cakes which were served at the close of the evening. The pretty bride-elect was showered with many pretty gifts by the guests. Miss Bertha Blood contributed several pleasing vocal numbers to the pleasures of the evening.

The guest list included the Misses Anna Lee Goodman, Bertha Blood, Thelma Matthews, Dorothy Goetz, Erma Schirmer, Thelma Chick, Florence Stitt, Nell Craighead, Sibyl Smith, Mabel Shaw, Rowena Welch, Marie Workman, Maud Matheli, Nina Bennett, Gladys Koger, Alice McElroy, Myrtle Partlow and Mrs. R. C. Holbrook.

Miss Katherine Conroy will receive the members of the Shawnee Bridge Club on Thursday afternoon at her home on Second street. This is the first fall meeting of the club and all members are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Lavender of Friendship celebrated their 18th wedding anniversary in Cincinnati Sunday at the home of Mrs. Lavender's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Asbury, 1808 Vine street. The guests present at the dinner included Mr. and Mrs. Louis Welch and Mr. and Mrs. William Asbury of Cincinnati, and Mr. and Mrs. John Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Ford H. Lavender and Mr. Ford Lavender, Jr., of Portsmouth. Mr. Lavender presented Mrs. Lavender with an Essex coach in honor of the occasion.

Miss Judith Quasser of Sixth street entertained with a delightful party on Saturday afternoon as a social courtesy to Miss Florence Bein of Franklin Boulevard, whose engagement was recently announced to Mr. Herbert Eskind of Chatauga, Tenn. Five hundred was the game chosen for the afternoon and after several hours of playing the hostess served a delectable lunch at the card tables. Miss Freda Stone of Columbus, who is a guest at the Quasser home, was the only out-of-town visitor.

Raymond Flannigan took his departure this morning for South Bend, Ind., where he will enter the School of Journalism, Notre Dame University.

The first meeting of fall, held by the Ketchikan Auxiliary of the Second Presbyterian Church, was attended by 36 members and guests Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Sigmund Haas on Seventeenth Street. Mrs. D. H. Jones of Philadelphia, a guest of Mrs. J. G. Merrill, was the only guest from out of town.

Mrs. H. C. Vaughn, group leader, had charge of the program, which included interesting papers on the foreign topic, "India," by Mrs. J. V. McCabe and Mrs. D. D. Mitchell. Mrs. C. E. Nodler read on the home topic, "America." Current events were given by Mrs. N. B. Griffin and Mrs. Bernard Leck.

Mrs. Stanley Jones read a beautiful memorial to the late Mrs. Vaughn Shiers, the first member of the Auxiliary to be called by death. Mrs. W. E. Ranchaus was welcomed as a new member. The assistant hostesses were Mrs. Charles Bolin, Mrs. Paul Revare, Mrs. Wilfred Bennett, Mrs. Elmer Hansen and Mrs. Charles Kenbard.

Mrs. William De Moss of Newport, Ky., arrived last evening for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Cargeant of Twelfth street.

The Eastern Stars will hold their regular meeting next Tuesday night in their hall in the Mascote Temple.

An interesting wedding was solemnized this afternoon at two o'clock when Miss Louise Peyton Zeigler, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Shriver of 941 Second street, became the bride of Dr. Troy M. Scurlock, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Scurlock of Jackson, Ohio.

The ceremony was performed by Reverend Hugh I. Evans, in the presence of the Second Presbyterian church, 813 Waller street, and was witnessed by the bride's sister, Miss Mary Shriver and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Davis. Miss Zeigler, who is an unusually attractive young girl, was charmingly attired in a handsome suit of dark blue with harmonizing accessories.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's parents, where they prepared for the wedding journey, and left on the afternoon train for Cleveland, where they will spend two weeks. Later they will return here for a visit before going to Youngstown, Ohio, where Dr. Scurlock will take up the practice of dentistry.

"...we stood up together a year before the justice of the peace married us."

PERHAPS old Isaac Fletcher blamed himself secretly for what had happened, but he would never have admitted it. Rhoda was his only child, his pride, his happiness. That was to be the root of his objections to young Seaton. There was nothing in the matter with the young man—nothing at all. Only Fletcher had put his foot down and said she should not marry him. He wanted to keep her close to him, make his life at least partly his home. They had played with got a notion into his head it stayed there. "If you marry the fellow, you're no longer daughter of mine," said Isaac Fletcher.

But Rhoda disappeared. Isaac found out where they were living. He hardened his heart. If the girl chose to disobey him, she must take the consequences. Young Seaton was earning a good salary in a large corporation. And in his selfishness old Isaac reflected that he would have lost Rhoda anyway.

"Father!" she said, with a strangled sob. "Will you turn your chair and her child out into the street this night?"

Deep within him old Isaac felt immense thrill of satisfaction.

"You can come in," he said grudgingly.

Firpo In Last Lap Of Training

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 11.—(By the Press.)—Arrived at fighting condition, Luis Angel Firpo, began today to taper his training for the match with Jack Dempsey, in New York, Friday night.

The sparring and road work today was ordered cut down. Dr. Juan

Dell and Dan Washington, the masseur, declared that the Argentine was all ready, needed but a little work today and tomorrow to put him in proper shape for a grueling battle.

The challenger is in as fine a mental condition as physical. He apparently has no thought of the fight only a little more than three days away. He was up today at the usual hour and out on the road for a short time. He passed up the usual morning shave and said he probably would let the whiskers grow for the fight. He wants to look as tough as he feels.

Dempsey And Firpo Both Savage In Ring

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(By the Press.)—Crowd psychology, which was expected to have such a big influence over Jack Dempsey when he fought Georges Carpentier in Jersey City, and which did not, hardly will be any kind of an important factor in the champion's coming fight with Luis Firpo, the South American giant.

The fight of the Argentine should be affected by the attitude taken or voiced by the spectators. Firpo will not be able to understand any verbal blows that might be tossed at him from the house, and Dempsey will not give a darn if he is given the razz.

In one respect, Dempsey will not be affected by the reception that he is given. If he should get the jeers and hisses that came after he had been presented to the throng in Jersey City, he will fight just the same. But if, strange sounds of a monstrous cheer should come to him, he may fight a tremendously bitter fight.

Since he won the championship by stopping Jess Willard in 1919 at Toledo, nothing but the raucous notes of the razz have been directed at him. Slacker charges resulting from what he did, or didn't do, during the war, and the heavy financial demands he exacted for his services have made him intensely unpopular.

Whether this spirit of animosity on the part of the public is just, is beside the point. The fact is that he has been razed every time he made his appearance in the ring. He was thought so little of by the people around Shelby, that the announcer almost forgot to introduce him after he had devoted several minutes to the glorification of Gibbons.

He was introduced second at Jersey City, and after hearing the greatest oration ever given to a foreign athlete in the United States, he had to stand up under a barrage of jeers and hisses when he was introduced as the American defender of the world's championship.

Through it all, Dempsey remained unmoved. Stung terribly as he must have been around the heart, the champion went out and did his stuff and even after winning it was very little of a hand he ever got.

Many followers of boxing believe that Dempsey will be the popular fighter when he appears for his bout with Firpo. The South American has been held up as a penniless individual, out for the money alone. He hasn't the war record that Carpentier had to endear himself to the professional patriots that have been maligning Dempsey, and perhaps the crowd will look upon and support Dempsey as the American representative against a foreigner.

After recovering from the shock that would attend a real good reception, if he gets it, Dempsey probably would fight as he never fought before.

Picks Firpo To Win Before Sixth

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 11.—Felix Buene, patron of Luis Angel Firpo, believes that the Argentine will defeat Jack Dempsey in the sixth round or sooner. He believes that Firpo is the most extraordinary boxer of all times and that Dempsey's superiority in certain phases of in-fighting is more than counterbalanced by the phenomenal power in Firpo's right, combined with his aggressiveness.

Fighters Hurt; Bout Stopped

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 11.—Injuries to both contestants in the sixth round ended the scheduled ten round no-decision bout between Bernondsey Bill Wells of London England and Jimmy Jones of Youngstown, Ohio, welterweights, here last night.

After a fast exchange of in-fighting in the sixth, Wells and Jones fell through the ropes. Wells striking on his head cutting a gash and injuring his back and Jones slightly hurt his left leg. The boxing commission's physician declared Wells would be unable to continue.

Both men were out of the ring for more than ten seconds and the referee called the match no contest without making a count.

WHIFFING KINGS

Cliff Markle, of the Saints, and Freddie Schupp, of the Blues, the strikeout kings of the American association this season, will surpass the mark hung up by Girard, of the Mud Hens for last season. The Toledo hurler led the league in 1922 with 141 strikeouts, but Markle and Schupp should end the year with about 200 whiffs each. Dave Danforth registered 204 strikeouts in 1921 and Schupp and Markle are shooting at this mark.

Giants Advance Lead

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The Giants in a battling bee yesterday advanced their lead in the National league to five and a half games, by knocking the Boston Braves around the lot for a score of 10 to 1. The Pirates, by shutting out the Reds 8 to 0, regained second place, leading Cincinnati by half game.

The Brooklyn Robins trounced the Phillies in spectacular style, winning 7 to 1. In the American League the Yankees and the Red Sox were the only teams to meet, the New Yorkers winning, 3 to 1. Sam Jones, Yankee pitcher, only allowed two Red Stockings to hit safely. Babe Ruth again tied Cy Williams for the home run honors when he banged out his 35th. The victory was the third straight the Yankees have taken from Boston.

And All Second Rates

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(By the A. P.)—Before he opened his Atlantic City training camp for his match with Jack Dempsey, Luis Angel Firpo, challenger for the world's heavy-weight title, got in some "baiting practice" at the expense of the lesser known heavyweights of the country. While on his barnstorming tour, Firpo engaged in six contests, four of which he won with knockouts.

The Argentine's knock-out victims were Italian Jack Herman, Jim Hubbard, Charlie Weinert and Joe Burke. Homer Smith and Joe Downey managed to stay the limit with Firpo, but they absorbed considerable punishment.

RED PENNANT HOPES FAST FADING; MORAN MEN LOSE TO PIRATES 8 TO 0

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 10.—Donohue's wildness and poor support in the infield enabled Pittsburgh to score six runs on one hit in the fourth inning and easily defeated Cincinnati, 8 to 0.

Errors by Fonseca and Cavener were costly and Donohue forced in two runs with passes after hitting bases. Meadows had hit curve ball bases. Goodenough and the Reds got under a man to third base. As a result of the victory, the Pirates advanced to second place in the league race. The game play by play:

First Inning
Maranville whiffed. Donohue threw out Carey. Burns tended to Traynor. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Burns batted to Maranville. A cheer for Fonseca, and a single to left. Bohne did exactly the same thing. Bressler fanned. Duncan forced Bohne. Maranville unassisted. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Second Inning
Took Mueller's short fly. Barnhart seeing no chance to score, loomed off third and was suddenly doubled. Burns to Fonseca to Pinelli, the best, snappiest play of the season. Rawlings singled to left. Grimm skied to Bressler. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Barnhart muffed Hargrave's fly. Pinelli forced Hargrave. Rawlings to Maranville. Cavener drove to Mueller. Donohue fouled to Traynor. No runs no hits, one error.

Third Inning
Schmidt walked. Meadows hit into a double play. Cavener to Fonseca. Cavener fumbled Rabbit's bounder. Maranville stole second, aided by a short passed ball. Carey cracked a center field single that scored Rabbit. Carey stole second and took third on a wild peg. By Fonseca, who was trying to get the Pirate outfielder in a run down play. Traynor singled off Donohue's glove. Carey scoring. Barnhart doubled to left. Mueller fanned. Two runs, three hits, two errors.

Burns took two bases on a miff by Carey. Fonseca singled to center. Bohne hit into a double play. Traynor batted to Maranville. Traynor bounced to Meadows. No other club in the world would have failed to score. No runs, one hit, one error.

Fourth Inning
This inning brought to pass about the most terrible exhibition of base ball ever seen at Redland Field. Cavener started the ball rolling by making a wide heave off Rawlings. Grimm bounced to Fonseca. Pete lost all idea of the direction of the plate walking Schmidt. Meadows and Maranville. Rawlings, obviously, was forced in. Fonseca next booted Carey's grounder, scoring Schmidt. Then Traynor drew a pass, forcing Meadows. Someone on the bench finally came out of a sound sleep and beckoned Donohue off the field. Harris went in and got Barnhart on a foul to Hargrave. Muller singled to center, scoring Maranville and Carey. Traynor rubbed it in on the Reds by stealing home. Mueller meanwhile advancing to second. Harris became a victim of Pete's geyer of generosity and walked Rawlings. Grimm wound up the inning by bouncing to Harris. Six runs, one hit, two errors.

Fifth Inning
Pick, the Reds' new infielder went to left. Schmidt was out. Fonseca to Harris. Meadows lifted to Cavener. Maranville lined to Cavener. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Harris singled to center. Burns hit into a double play. Maranville to Grimm. Maranville threw out Fonseca. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Inning
Bohne threw out Carey. Cavener threw out Traynor. Barnhart skied to Burns. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Bohne singled to center. Pick was received with cheering. He is a huge left handed batter, and he struck out with great vigor. Duncan skied to Barnhart threw out Hargrave. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Inning
Mueller lifted to Duncan. Rawlings filed to Burns. Grimm filed to Duncan. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Pinelli rolled to Rawlings. Cavener filed to Mueller. Harris fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning
Schmidt singled to center. Meadows sacrificed. Harris to Fonseca, Maranville bounced to Bohne. Cavener bounced to Pinelli. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Burns bounced to Maranville. Same for Fonseca. Bohne filed to Barnhart. No runs no hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning
Traynor filed to Burns. Barnhart filed to Burns. Mueller fouled to Hargrave. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Pick singled to left. Duncan forced Pick. Maranville unassisted, and took second on a bad throw by Maranville. Hargrave bounced to Maranville. Pinelli filed to Carey. No runs one hit, one error.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The New York Yankees made it three straight wins from Boston, winning easily, 8 to 1. TELLING THE TALE

THE article in Sunday's Sun-Times, on the destruction of Port Royal accretes the way much history is made—insistence in statements that have no support in truth.

English histories, not only ignore, they deny the fact that Sir Henry Morgan was a buccaneer. They insist he was an admiral and conducted all his operations as such, according to the codes of legitimate warfare on the seas.

The truth is, however, that Sir Henry was a pirate, a buccaneer, one of the most ferocious that ever sailed with a gang of cut-throats and marauders. He pillaged, murdered and ravaged just as wantonly as did L'Olonnois, Sharp or any other of the commanders of any of the villainous crews that ravaged the Spanish Main and squandered their plunder in drunkenness and debauchery in Port Royal and other cities of the Caribbean islands.

Indisputably Morgan had the title of admiral in the British navy, but that did not honor him, he disgraced it. He was given the title to enlist him against the Spanish during actual hostilities and in the hope he would no longer molest British trade vessels.

On this point A. Hyatt Verrill, who has come to be recognized as the greatest of all authorities on the history of the lands in the gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean seas, has this to say:

"Of all the cruel, bloodthirsty, swashbuckling sea robbers, who sailed the Spanish Main, Morgan was pre-eminent the most atrocious, the most daring, the bravest and the most famous, or infamous. No doubt the King of England bore in mind the old adage that 'it takes a thief to catch a thief' and wisely decided the best man to clean up the nest of pirates in Jamaica was the ex-chief of the corsairs."

So Morgan was made admiral and governor of Jamaica. He kept his word, let that be said to his credit, with His Majesty. As governor he was as ruthless as when a freebooter. Comradeship, pity, mercy were unknown to him and no matter how many bloody adventures in which the pirates had fought by his side he hung them, whenever captured, and he generally managed to capture.

Cal Coolidge is no joiner. He isn't either a Free Mason, or Knight of Columbus. Truth to say "Cautious Cal" seems to be more than a bit fearful of riding the goat and he isn't a member of any fraternal society. More than that, it is now stated on seeming authority, that he isn't a member of any sect. He goes regularly to the Congregational church, but he's just married thereto, goes because his wife is a member. And we rather think more of Cal because he doesn't belong to any society. Sort of wish we had never joined any of ourself.

Family who accidentally looked themselves out, having an awful time trying to waken the man of the house at ten o'clock Sunday morning. After a young man had yelled himself hoarse at his bedroom window, the man rolled out of bed, slipped on the top step of the stairs and came down and opened the door.

Popular young daddy chasing his year old daughter over a block, and then spanking her for running away.

He did the same thing himself when he was that age.

Woman as tall as a bean pole and as slender as a drink of water wearing a long black sleeveless gown and a pair of bright red slippers.

Popular young Second street joy-riding down the main drag with gear and arms around a man.

Woman on parade Sunday morning wearing her bedroom slippers.

Pretty young stenographer parking her chewing gum under the seat of a street car.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A returning jazz band leader, tells of the American who went over to Paris to see Coco and improved upon his every day, in every way, etc., formula. The American arose every morning, stretched and said: "Hell, I'm old." (Don't worry to tell me I'm an old one. It possibly is, but I just heard it.)

The theatre has lost one of its most artistic stage designers, to "vulgar trade." It is announced that Leon Bakst has accepted a big offer to design silks for a New York manufacturer.

The apparent professional undoing of Big Bill Fallon, removes a striking legal figure from what is known as the "Forty-Second Street Bar." Fallon is under indictment and has announced he is to retire from active practice.

He was what the criminal world describes as a "swell mouthpiece." Coming from the obscurity of the white made vacant by the late Abe, Hammell, the dynamic little lawyer who was the hope of those who transgressed the law.

Fallon was a personage in the lobster belt. He handled the case of the notorious Niecey Arnstein and kept him from going to prison. He rarely lost a case. He was a fighter and more than once his' clashed with judges on the bench.

Few men knew more of law and its technicalities. He was a scholar, yet before the public he appeared as a gruff sort of grouch who asked no quarter and gave none. It was axiomatic that when a client retained Fallon he was free.

He became entangled in the Wall Street brokerage scandals. His efforts to keep two buccaneer, bucketeers out of jail proved his Waterloo. In the shadows of the whole expose loomed the mysterious figure of Arnold Rothstein, the game gambler.

Rothstein and Fallon were pals. Rothstein is a shy appearing fellow, who has lost $100,000 at the tip of a card without the slightest change of expression. The trail in many Broadway scandals led to the apparently innocent doors of Rothstein's insurance office.

Yet Rothstein has never been arrested. He hovers about with two bodyguards sinking in the back-ground. When he sits in a restaurant his back is to the wall invariably. Time after time the report has gone out that professional killers were to "hump off" Rothstein, but they never have.

It is rumored that pistols for two has had a revival and that two duels of a bloodless nature recently took place at the historic dueling ground.

near Weehawken, N. J. In both cases the young men clashed over the love of girls. In the days of high passions and exigent honor many duels were fought across the North River. A tablet on top of the Palisades about opposite Fortieth street marks the supposed spot where Alexander Hamilton fell mortally wounded by Aaron Burr's bullets. That was on July 11, 1804.

Atop a grassy knoll in the southern end of Central Park each evening two blind newsmen make their way. One has a stand in Columbus Circle and another near the Plaza. They meet at the Sixth Avenue entrance of the park and stroll arm in arm to the top of the hill. They remain there until after sundown. A policeman ventured to their little retreat the other evening. They told him they came there nightly to pray.

The young dappers of Coney Island set a new style each season. This last season they were arrayed in white duck trousers that are bell shaped and flapping about the ankles. They wear white silk shirts and go about hatless. Last season they went in for tattooing and each had some design on the upper right arm.

Try This On Your Piano

Says old man Haskins, with a frown, That there ain't much use in movin' to town.

And crowdin' into a four-room flat Where there ain't nuff room to hang your hat.

Where eggs cost about a nickel apiece, And butter is 'bout like axle grease.

We gotta admit there's a lot of charm in livin' right out on the good old farm.

When the wife and children want to go And see a good movin' picture show.

When they're shakin' a pernickler fancy reel, I get 'em there quick in the automobile.

The town folks ain't got nuthin' on us, In spite of all their feathers and fuss.

We got good plumbin' all through our place, And fine washstands fer your hands and face.

A bathtub, too, we can fill right quick, And we don't have to go jump in the creek.

So far as the day's news is concerned, There's derred few things that we haven't learned.

About as sudden as one-two-three, Fer we got a party phone, you see, And we never are late in gettin' our calls.

For the rural delivery never fails, We do all the things the city folks do.

Our children go to colleges, too, And there isn't a durned new-fangled idee.

That we don't grab quick as quick can be.

We've got all the latest in machines, We got all the high-toned magazines.

We've got new thoughts in our old think tanks, And quite a lot of dough in the city banks.

When it comes to cats, why, we have to laff, We have got them all skinned by a mite and a half.

For "rubes" you can no longer put us down, "Rubes" nowadays are all livin' in town.

Starting Right

A Hebrew came home and found his wife with little Ikey in her arms singing him to sleep with a lullaby like this, "By-low, baby; by-low, baby."

The Jew on seeing this was all smiles and proudly said to his wife, "Dat vas right, you teach him to buy low and I'll teach him to sell high."

Same Old Story

He bought some eas, And apushin' too, What happened to, Is nothing new.

Oh, Piffle!

John, dear," said his wife, "how do you like this new fall outfit I've bought? It is absolutely the latest thing out."

Noticing the look of disapproval in John's eyes, and hearing his sarcastic comment on the loudness of the colors and size of the bill, she cried: "Oh, John, lie to me! Lie like the very deuce, for I bought it at a bargain and it isn't exchangeable."

Wonder Where This Was!

A man from one of the smaller towns was in for the Fall Festival last week and went through one of the local newspaper plants. He was very much impressed with the size of the composing room and as he looked around on the great array of linotype machines he turned to the reporter who was showing him around and asked:

"How many men work here, anyway?"

"The boss says about 10 per cent of those employed," he replied—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Twenty-four Years Ago

A large crowd was in attendance at the Red Men's camp on the old fair grounds at the end of Eleventh street when the Indians went on the war-path, captured a pale face, George Apple, Jr., and burned him at the stake.

A white-cap warning was given a man living on Second street in the form of a bucket of tar left on his door-step by his neighbors, who were indignant because the man occasionally beat his wife. The bucket of tar was a polite intimation to the alleged offender that if he did not mend his ways he would get a dose of the tar, accompanied with a feather-dressing.

Rev. Thomas E. Peelen, a well-known Roman Catholic minister, was honored with the presidency of a large Theological college at Baden, North Carolina. Rev. Peelen left with his family to assume charge of the institution of learning.

Charles Fiegelstahler severed his connection with the firm of J. E. Eisman & company after a service of 10 years, to go on the road as a salesman for a Columbus firm.

Volney Thompson's "Black Beauty" took second money in the 2:20 trot at the State Fair.

Mrs. Mary Donahoe of East Third street left for Berlin to attend the wedding of Mr. Edward Parrott and Miss Nannie Dimmitt.

James F. Cutlip, 20, of Pike county, was granted a license to wed Jennie F. Lee, 18, daughter of Felix and Emma Lee, of this city.

Trivialities

SON, when you deal with woman-kind, Unless you'd be a lemon in The game of love, you'd better find What pleases most the Feminine. Though your devotion be expressed In telling all life through for her, The things a woman likes the best Are little things you do for her.

A LITTLE keepsake now and then. A bunch of flowers sent to her. A note in which you gently pen A bit of sentiment to her; Praise of a hat, a gown, her eyes, Will make gray skies clear blue for her.

Oh, greatly does a woman prize These little things you do for her!

Be kind and strong and clean and brave; But still, let me recall to you, That oftentimes a girl will love Things which seem very small to you.

A smile, a trivial act polite Will make the world seem new for her. You keep the love-lamp burning By little things you do for her! (Copyright, 1923, Sea Service, Inc.)
